Bill on Uniform Civil Code to be July flashpoint

Amit Shah keen on getting it ready by then

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

Rituraj Awasthi

KT Sankaran

WITH Lok Sabha elections just a year away, the Centre seems to be moving in the direction of implementing its long-time poll promise of Uniform Civil Code (UCC) in the country.

According to sources, at a high-level meeting chaired by Union home minister Amit Shah on Monday, he expressed his keenness to introduce the bill in the Monsoon session of Parliament in July.

The meeting was attended by Union law minister Kiren Rijiju, Solicitor General Tushar Mehta, top officials from various departments, BJP president J P Nadda, RSS joint general secretary Arun Kumar among others. According to sources, Shah said that the bill should be ready by July.

With Assembly polls in Madhya Pradesh, Rajasthan, Telangana and Chhattisgarh scheduled for the second half of this year, the party may be banking on the UCC card. Shah said last year that the BJP is committed to implementing a UCC after discussions and by following all democratic processes.

Last month, Mehta told the Supreme Court that the Centre is in favour of a UCC, adding its enacting is within the domain of Parliament and not courts.

Rijiju had earlier told Parliament that the 22nd Law Commission will examine various issues pertaining to the UCC and make recommendations.

22nd Law Commission

The 22nd Law Commission is headed by former Karnataka High Court chief justice Rituraj Awasthi, who headed a bench that heard in the hijab ban case. Its member Justice K T Sankaran had coined the love jihad phrase for the first time in 2009 during his tenure in Kerala HC

The 21st Law Commission in its working paper said that a UCC is "neither necessary nor desirable at this stage". It observed that "Difference does not always imply discrimination in a robust democracy. So a unified nation does not necessarily need to have uniformity."

Speaking to this newspaper, a former member of the 21st Law Commission said, "Our commission took two-and-a-half years to prepare a working paper on UCC. It needs elaborate consultation with all stakeholders."

The member also pointed out that the Muslim personal laws will have to be codified before embarking on drafting laws for the UCC.

No data to show same-sex marriage is an urban elitist concept, says CJI

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

THE state can't discriminate against an individual on the basis of sexual characteristic over which the person has no control, the Supreme Court said on Wednesday. Rejecting the Centre's stand that same-sex marriage is an urban elitist concept, the court said that there is no government data to support it.

"It may be more urban in its manifestations because more people in urban areas are coming out of the closet. No data is coming out to indicate this is urban," said Chief Justice D Y Chandrachud.

A five-judge Constitution bench headed by the CJI was hearing a batch of petitions seeking legal sanction for same-sex marriage.

At the start of the second day's hearing, Solicitor General Tushar Mehta filed a fresh affidavit urging the bench to make all states and Union Territories parties to the proceedings as their right to legislate will be affected by SC's decision.

The court was told that the Centre issued a letter on April 18, the day the SC started hearing arguments, to all states inviting their views.

However, the bench was in no mood to accede to the request. "So you've told them now that the matter is going on? That's excellent! So now it's not that the states are unaware. You've informed them. If somebody has to say something they'll," said the CJI.

Terming the entire exercise of 'consulting the states' as unnecessary, senior advocate Mukul Rohatgi, appearing for one of the petitioners, said the top court had issued notice in the pleas five months ago.

Senior advocate A M Singhvi questioned the exclusion of the LGBTQ class from the Special Marriage Act. "Marriage is vital and important because of the sense of security it provides to couples. Why should there be exclusion of one set of couples?" he asked.

BJP to begin campaign blitzkrieg with its stars

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

THE ruling BJP will soon launch a 'carpet bombing-like' campaign in the state to turn the tide in its favour in the May 10 Assembly elections.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi, prominent union ministers and chief ministers of BJP-ruled states, and other senior leaders of the party will address rallies across the state.

Thursday is the last date for filing of nomination papers. Union Home Minister Amit Shah will be in the state on April 21 and 22. He will campaign for BJP candidates in Devanahalli and Davanagere. The saffron party, which has set a target of winning at least 140 seats, is largely depending on its national leaders, especially Modi, Shah and UP CM Yogi Adityanath.

According to a senior leader, 94 national leaders of the party will campaign in all 224 Assembly constituencies. BJP state secretary N Ravi Kumar, who is one of the star campaigners, told The New Indian Express that at least 1,000 roadshows, rallies and other events will be held across the state.

"We have a combination of national and state leaders ready to address rallies in different regions of the state. We hope Modi will take part in at least 20 rallies and other events," he said.

In the first 10 days, the leaders will cover 150 constituencies and before the last date for campaigning, they will cover the entire state, Ravi Kumar said.

Meanwhile, a senior BJP leader said the party seems to be lagging behind in some constituencies. But that will change once the star campaigners hit the streets.

According to BJP leaders, former DyCM Laxman Savadi and former CM Jagadish Shettar would have damaged the BJP's prospects if they had contested as independents. But that will not happen now as they have joined the Congress party.

The BJP on Wednesday released a list of 40 star campaigners, including Prime Minister Modi, Union ministers Shah, Pralhad Joshi, Mansukh Mandaviya, and Nirmala Sitharaman. P4

Russia plans to 'Make in India' to resolve payment problem

SHAHID FARIDI @ New Delhi

INDIA and Russia have devised a novel solution to the payment problem they faced after the Western sanctions against the latter following the Ukraine invasion. The workaround is to invest the bulk of Russian earnings from India in setting up industries in India to manufacture products that can be exported to the Russian Federation. India's oil imports from Russia increased four times over the last financial year to $46 billion as Russia replaced Iraq as India's top crude oil supplier last month. India is trying to get Russia to accept payments in rupee. Russia is against it, saying it has no use for such huge sums of Indian currency as its imports from India are only a fraction of what its exports to the country earn.

While talks are on for reviving the rupee-rouble trade, the two countries have quickly moved to implement their new understanding. Sources said Russia plans to spend much of its earnings from India to set up facilities in India that will export hundreds of items manufactured by its fully-owned companies or by joint ventures.

A large delegation of top Indian private defence manufacturers visited Russia last week to explore possibilities of tie-ups, and at least three Russian business delegations visited India over the last three weeks. They included senior Russian ministers and business leaders.

A 190-member business delegation representing 128 Russian companies visited India earlier this month. Russian Chamber of Commerce and Industries president Sergey Katyrin headed this group. The FICCI organised B2B meetings between visiting Russian business people and Indian industrialists. This was followed by Russian Deputy Prime Minister Denis Manturov's visit. Both sides are exploring cooperation in transport and machine building, chemicals, pharma, metallurgy and materials, digital technologies, energy, finance and trade.

CBI books Oxfam India over FCRA violation

AMIT MUKHERJEE @ New Delhi

FOLLOWING the Union home ministry's directive, the CBI has lodged an FIR against Oxfam India over violations under the Foreign Currency Regulation Act (FCRA).

The FIR has been registered against Oxfam India and its office bearers this week, for violations under Sections 37, 37 and 39 of the FCRA read with Sections 7,8, 12 (4) and 17. The CBI will be investigating the various alleged violations and its scope between 2013 and 2020. The MHA directive was after multiple agencies detected irregularities, violations and non-compliance by Oxfam.

In its letter to the CBI Director, MHA said: "Though Oxfam India's FCRA registration has ceased, it planned to circumvent FCRA by routing funds through other routes."

The letter further said if during the course of the investigation, violations of the other specific statutes, such as the Income Tax Act or the Prevention of Money Laundering Act surface, then the CBI may alert the competent authorities.

Oxfam India was registered under the Foreign Contribution (Regulation) Act 2010 for undertaking social activities. The registration certificate was valid up to December 31, 2021. According to sources, it transferred foreign funds to various entities while the amended rules prohibit such transfers.

AIADMK eyes victory in Pulakeshinagar

BJP's ally in Tamil Nadu aims to tap the Tamil-speaking populace in the constituency, fields Anbarasan

RAMU PATIL @ Bengaluru

BJP's alliance partner in Tamil Nadu, AIADMK, is fielding its candidate from the Pulakeshinagar Assembly segment in Bengaluru for the polls on May 10.

The AIADMK on Wednesday announced that its candidate, D Anbarasan, will contest the polls from Pulakeshinagar. He will file the nomination papers on Thursday, the last date for doing so. Unease among the alliance partners in the neighbouring state may have prompted AIADMK to field its candidate in Pulakeshinagar, where Anbarasan will be contesting against the BJP, Congress, JDS and independents. Meanwhile, Tamil Nadu BJP chief K Annamalai is also the party's co incharge of the state polls.

BJP sources said neither the AIADMK asked for any seat nor it was discussed in BJP. "BJP-AIADMK alliance is only in Tamil Nadu and there is no such alliance in Karnataka," sources said. BJP has fielded Murali as its candidate in the Pulakeshinagar constituency. His name was announced in the first list of candidates released on April 11.

AIADMK Karnataka State secretary SD Kumar said the Assembly segment has a sizeable Tamil-speaking population and they are confident of winning the seat.

Anbarasan had contested the BBMP polls and managed to get over 2,400 votes in his ward.

In the 2018 Assembly polls, Akhanda Srinivas Murthy won with a massive margin on a Congress ticket. Now, he is contesting as an independent from the same constituency as the Congress fielded A C Srinivasa as its candidate from here.

Choose AAP even if others pay you: Raghav

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AAM Aadmi Party Rajya Sabha member Raghav Chadha called on the people to vote for AAP in the Assembly elections, "no matter how much money the BJP, Congress and JDS parties give them".

Addressing a press conference here on Wednesday, Chadha said there were reports in the media that the BJP, Congress, and JDS are offering money and freebies to lure voters. "I'm not saying people should not take them. Because all these are being given with the people's tax money that was looted. While you may accept money from them, you should vote for AAP for the development of the state."

AAP Rajya Sabha member Raghav Chadha (right), along with party candidate Suresh Rathod, carries out a roadshow in Bengaluru on Wednesday | EXPRESS

He attacked the BJP government in the state and said the saffron party had outdone itself in corruption in Karnataka and even school-going children were aware of the "40-per cent commission government". "People are fed up with this corrupt government and want it to be overthrown. They need a clean and honest government, which is possible only if AAP is voted to power," he claimed. He also accompanied AAP candidates Brijesh Kalappa and Suresh Rathod, as they filed their nominations from Chickpet and Pulikeshinagar constituencies, respectively.

Veteran Deshpande could have a tough contest on hands

SUBHASH CHANDRA NS
@ Haliyal (Uttara Kannada)

RAGHUNATH V Deshpande, popularly known as R V Deshpande, is contesting for the record ninth time from Haliyal constituency, but this time, he could face an uphill task on his own turf.

The 2023 assembly elections are special for the septuagenarian, who has set a record of sorts by contesting from the same assembly constituency for the ninth time. He even surpasses AICC President Mallikarjun Kharge, who represented Gurmitkal eight times, and later moved to Chittapur due to delimitation.

Deshpande will also equal Kharge's record for winning the most number of times from the same party and same constituency, and also for being the most active politician in the district, besides a minister who has held various portfolios.

He did taste defeat way back in 2008, when he lost to JDS candidate Sunil Hegde (now with BJP) by a margin of 5,425 votes. Hegde secured 46,031 votes, while Deshpande got 40,606 votes. However, the trend reversed the following election, and in 2013, Deshpande won by 5,939 votes against the same Sunil Hegde who contested from the BJP this time. Deshpande secured 55,005 votes to Hegde's 49,066 votes. The winning streak continued in 2018, when Deshpande again managed to post a victory against Hegde by a margin of 5,146 votes.

However, 2023 could have a different story to tell as this time, the constituency is likely to witness a triangular contest, with the veteran facing two rivals -- Sunil Hegde and Srikanth L Ghotnekar. Though Hegde has been his traditional rival, Ghotnekar is his own party colleague who has switched sides to contest elections.

Interestingly, both his rivals are his one-time disciples: Hegde much earlier, while Ghotnekar was a long-time ally who played a significant role in his victories in his 40-year career. Having groomed him, Deshpande supported him and make him Member of Legislative Council.

Ghotnekar, who is almost the same age as Deshpande, is likely to use his Maratha card and Deshpande's failure to deliver to the constituency, for his campaign. Ghotnekar is a member of a strong Marathi community, comprising about 50,000 voters, and believes his community is sufficient for him to achieve his ambition of becoming MLA.

On the other hand, Sunil Hegde is banking on the Hindutva factor, Prime Minister Narendra Modi and his own vote bank, and even the sudden differences between the two senior leaders in the fray. His calculation is that Ghotnekar will take away a sizable chunk of Congress votes and this will give him a hands-down victory. However, the assessment in the Congress is that Ghotnekar will take away most of the Maratha votes, and this will benefit Deshpande.

Independent deposits all of ₹10,000 in ₹1 coins

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

AN independent candidate from the Yadgir constituency stumped election officials on Tuesday, giving them the Rs 10,000 election deposit money in one rupee coins.

It took the returning officer and three other officials over two hours to count all the coins, confirm it all totalled to the amount and accept his nomination.

The candidate, Yankappa, who aims to bring real democracy, said that he left home last year and stayed in all the villages in the constituency. During his village stays, he educated villagers about the importance of democracy and the value of their participation in the electoral process.

Yankappa from Ramasamdra said he collected a coin from each house, begged for food and stayed at temples in villages. Though many came forward to give him more money, he insisted and collected only one Re 1 coin from each house, he said.

Yankappa campaigned for himself, and assured the villagers that he would work to improve their villages if elected. Each village would get a good school and quality education for the children, he assured them.

Yankappa said each coin represented a family and if all the members of families that have given him the coin exercises their franchise in his favour, his election is certain.

Yankappa said he wore the poster of his manifesto around his neck so that the voters could know what he will do if elected.

Fix affiliation issues by May 31 or close, schools told

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE Department of School Education has given until May 31 for unauthorised schools to rectify any issues regarding their affiliation before they are shut down. With an increasing number of complaints from parents on unauthorised private schools running in the state, as well as several incidents of schools running unauthorised classes, a government order has been issued, wherein these schools will be shut down if they do not rectify their issues by May 31. According to the order, the department has stated that 45 days time will be given where deputy directors are to ensure that the schools are rectifying their issues, failing which, they will be shut down.

In particular, the violations mentioned in the government order are with regards to the schools running without registration, schools conducting unauthorised advanced classes (Classes 9 and 10), schools following the central curriculum despite being state-affiliated, schools teaching in unauthorised mediums, schools running unauthorised departments, transfer of the ownership of schools without prior notice to the department, teaching the state curriculum without renewal of recognition, and procurement and adoption of textbooks outside the syllabus. The order has instructed deputy directors to identify schools taking part in the violations and follow up on their status towards rectifying any violations.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

20th April: Today's excitable alignments are perfect if you want to ditch your current arrangements and come up with schemes which are even grander. Remember, though, it's one thing to dream, quite another to put your dreams into practice. The traditional advice is the best advice: look before you leap!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
The Sun is now inching firmly towards a fresh relationship with Uranus, a sure sign that if there's one prediction we can make, it's that the future is unpredi-ctable. At work, expect the unexpected. If you're in love, I think it's time for a few dramatic gestures.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
The past few months seem to have been physically and mentally taxing, but you must admit that you have a great deal going for you. It's difficult, though, to cope with partners' emotional intensity. Probably your best approach is to listen, learn and give the best advice you can.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Mars, the planet which indicates the ups and downs in your energy, is strong, but not too strong, which suggests that you may either explode with anger or turn the other cheek. I am not saying that one course of action is right and the other wrong, but you must be prepared for the consequences of whichever path you choose.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You will soon consider the advantages of moving home. However, I suspect the ultimate conclusion will be that it is better to stay where you are and make various important improvements. If you've been conjuring up financial dreams, you'll soon be beginning to put them into practice.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
So many areas in your chart are denoting imminent upheaval that you may find it difficult to believe that any change has positive consequences. But the fact is that you may need to give up something small, in order to gain something big. The future, after all, is up for grabs.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
By all means continue to put your ideas forward. It looks pretty certain that most people will accept what you have to say at face value, but others will be unable to keep up. Just a word about romantic prospects: these are excellent. Mind you, the temperature is due to rise over the next few days.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
A new opening or offer may not be finali-sed until another few weeks have passed, but I can promise you that a phase of uncertainty will be coming to an end over the next three months. Indeed, when the ans-wers do come, you may be pleasantly surprised.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
I know that you may have been obliged to go over a lot of old ground, but in truth this is a period to focus on the future. Jupiter, you see, is a planet which has no truck with the ties and restraints of the past, and now it is working its magic in your home and family life.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Calm down and don't make too much of a song and dance if monetary matters are becoming complicated. A sudden move today may run into the sand tomorrow, but then perhaps you'll get going again on the day after. Impulse buys are probably best - or at least the most enjoyable!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
I don't think you could ever be totally prepared for some of the upheavals which are scheduled for the next three weeks. However, you should now have a chance to re-evaluate some of the personal benefits of past disturbances, and in no time you'll work out how to deal with fresh challenges.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
If that splendid planet Jupiter is having the desired effect, you should now be able to detect more than a ray of hope in at least one special relationship. Don't turn your back on someone special, even if he, or she, has behaved badly. After all, to err is human, to forgive divine.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
You'll soon get well stuck in to a spot of social organising. Nobody can bring people together like you, or achieve the same spirit of peace and contentment. Why don't you pay special attention to financial breaks? After all, you'll quickly realise that you have to pay for a treasured dream.

BJP leader killed in Hubballi, cops rule out communal angle

Stabbed while intervening between a clash

MALLIKARJUN HIREMATH
@Dharwad

DHARWAD district police have arrested five people in connection with the murder of BJP Yuva Morcha leader Praveen Kammar at Kallur village late Tuesday night.

Superintendent of Police Lokesh Jagalasar said the incident occurred during the Udchamma Devi Fair in the village. Praveen, who was present, tried to intervene when two groups clashed. Praveen initially succeeded in pacifying the two groups who began leaving the venue. But the fight started again and when Praveen intervened for the second time, he was stabbed multiple times.

He was shifted to a private hospital soon after the incident and declared dead on Wednesday morning. Police are investigating the case from all angles. The arrested are Raghavendra Patah, Yallappa Karikatti, Atmanad Patah, Mahantesh Patah and Basavaraj Patil, all from the same village. A case has been registered at Garag police station.

After Praveen's death, some BJP leaders, including Union Minister Pralhad Joshi and MLA Amrut Desai, expressed grief. Desai said the deceased was an active leader who had also organised a large number of people during a public rally held when he filed his nomination papers on Tuesday.

However, some people have claimed that the fight was between two groups belonging to different communities — Lingayats and Kurubas.

There were also reports that the clash was a result of a teasing incident during the fair which ended in Praveen's murder. Family members and friends of the deceased have not given any statement to the media so far.

Railway ticketing official manhandles techie at KSR station

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

CLOSE on the heels of a senior railway ticketing official in the Bengaluru Railway Division being dismissed from service for his misbehaviour with a lady passenger, another incident has come to light where an IT professional was humiliated. The techie claimed he was dragged by his collar, his spectacles were removed and he was abused by a senior ticketing officer on April 18. The incident happened on Platform 1 of the KSR railway station at 9.15am. The issue boils down to the malfunctioning of UTS app on Karthik Poojar's phone when the chief ticketing supervisor B M Radhakrishnan asked him to produce his travel ticket. Poojar, a regular commuter between KSR and Whitefield for his work, told TNIE, "I had alighted at the City Railway station Metro station and was on my way to board the train to Whitefield. When the ticket checker asked me for my ticket, I opened the UTS app but could not open it due to internet connectivity issue. Though I tried explaining this, he asked me to pay fine and leave. The official was addressing me in the singular and spoke very rudely."

Poojar said that he had a regular season ticket and showed the screenshot to the ticket checker. "When I told him the train was about to leave, he manhandled me and told that I could not go. I had no plans to run away at all. I am fully aware that one must produce a ticket when asked and cannot leave. Later, I was taken to the Deputy SMR room. I repeatedly tried to open the app, uninstalled and installed it, logged in with the help of a junior railway official, and was finally produced the ticket. I reached office at 11.20 am instead of 10 am," he added.

Radhakrishnan, however, claimed that Poojar was running to board the train. "I have actually saved his life by holding his collar. We were on Platform 1 and his train was on PF 2. I felt he would trespass the tracks to board the train. He was abusing Indian Railways as the app was not working, therefore, I was rude to him." He assured polite behaviour in future.

'God told me to throw stones at VB'

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

THE Railway Protection Force (RPF) arrested a 36-year-old man for throwing stones at passing trains between Malur and Tyakal in the Bengaluru Railway Division on April 16. The miscreant, Abhijit Agarwal, is suspected to be of an unsound mind and has been booked under sections 153 and 147 of The Railways Act and produced in the court of the Judicial Magistrate at Malur.

S K Thapa, Inspector, Passenger Services, RPF told TNIE, "My team and I, in civilian clothes, were patrolling the railway tracks when we spotted him picking a bunch of jelly stones from the tracks and hurling it at a passing SMVB-Patna Humsafar Express on Sunday at 3.43 pm. Two other trains including Vande Bharat were due to pass shortly. We nabbed him before that." He has been held responsible for hurling a stone on the Mysuru-Chennai Vande Bharat Express which passed the spot a day earlier. Since the stone only hit the body portion of the train, there were no injuries or damages.

The individual appeared to be depressed and carried so much food in his bag. "He told that he eats and sleeps on the railway tracks or stations only. He insisted that God commanded him to throw stones at trains and this would fetch him food."

The person appears to be a regular stone pelter, he added. Senior Divisional Security Commissioner, RPF, Devanshu Shukla told TNIE, "Due to increase in incidents of stone pelting across the Bengaluru Division, we have reduced our three shifts to two. Cops have been assigned 12-hr shifts with nearly 100 in each shift to maintain vigil. This has helped us nab him."

POLICE REUNITE KIDNAPPED BABY WITH HIS PARENTS

PRAVEEN KUMAR @Bengaluru

AT 2 am on Tuesday, the VV Puram police reunited MP Prasanna and his wife HK Suma with their eight-day-old son who had been kidnapped on Saturday from Vani Vilas Hospital. The police found success after scouring the footage of around 600 CCTV cameras and arrested the kidnapper from her house in Ijoor of Ramanagara district.

The accused, Rashmi (30), who was widowed a few months back, suffered a miscarriage while mourning the loss of her husband. Since she was uninterested to remarry, she decided to adopt a baby. But when the plan found no fruition, she stole the boy. "When the police woke us and showed our baby, I thought it was a dream. We could not believe our luck. My son had a mole on his left hand and it was the main identification mark," Prasanna told TNIE.

After kidnapping the baby, the accused wrapped him in a saree and travelled in an auto towards KR Road, Banashankari, Goraguntepalya, Kamakshipalya and finally boarded a bus to Ramanagara. She is being remanded in judicial custody. Suma, who had been admitted to the hospital on April 6 and delivered a healthy baby the next day, was advised to remain in the hospital for a few more days as she had low count of White Blood Cells. While Prasanna returned briefly to his hometown in Tumakuru district, his relative Nagamma stayed with his wife and newborn in room no. 1 of the annexe ward.

Around 4 am on Saturday, Suma fell asleep after feeding her baby and when she woke 30 minutes later, the baby was missing. Neither Nagamma nor the hospital staff had no clue about what happened. Prasanna rushed to the city and lodged a police complaint.

The state BJP legal cell has filed a complaint with the Election Commission against KPCC president DK Shivakumar and its social media head for their statements "insulting" the Lingayat and Brahmin communities. On April 16, the Congress tweeted, "BJP's DNA is similar to that of Peshwa and not Basavanna's. This is why they are targeting those having Basavanna's DNA."

'Will adapt with Cong ideology...(but) ties with RSS leaders will continue'

PRAMODKUMAR VAIDYA

PIC: D HEMANTH

DESPITE having a strong Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS) and Jan Sangh background, former chief minister Jagadish Shettar quit the BJP after three-decade-long association with it to join Congress on April 16. His decision to quit BJP came after the latter denied him a ticket to contest from his Hubballi-Dharwad Central constituency. Now with the Congress, Shettar says his secular image and thoughts would make it easy for him to adapt with the Congress party's ideology. In an exclusive interview with The New Indian Express, Shettar, who is now contesting on a Congress ticket from the same HD Central constituency, speaks of his ties with the RSS, and that although he may not attend programmes of the Sangh, his relationship with its leaders will continue. Excerpts:

What was the compelling reason for you to quit BJP?
Systematic efforts were there in the party to neglect me for the last several months. I was not even allowed to speak at the state executive meetings held every quarter. I wanted to raise the issue at the core committee meeting, but it is not being held regularly. When (Union Home Minister) Amit Shah was party president he used to ask the core committee to meet every month, but now they are being held once in three-four months. So I was unable to express my grievances. It was not taken seriously whenever I raised burning issues related to the party and the government. The state leaders were not interested in exploiting my experience, and even the state in-charge Arun Singh never discussed party affairs with me. So I started feeling suffocated. In the meantime, a whisper campaign was started against me by Mahesh Tenginkai, who is now contesting from the Hubballi Dharwad Central segment and who is a close associate of BJP generation secretary (Organisation) BL Santosh. I also brought it to the notice of the party leaders, but they were unresponsive. Later, I became impatient as everybody took me for granted.

About the whisper campaign against you ... Why didn't you bring it to the notice of the top leaders of the party?
I wanted to tell it in the party forum. If I had gone directly to them, perceptions would have been built saying Shettar always come with complaints. Despite that, once I did try to inform Amit Shah about it. I also got an appointment to meet him and informed him that the party position is not good in Karnataka and that there were some problems with the government, too. But I was unable to speak everything as some other leaders were there. I again requested Shah for a personal meeting, and he did agree to it on some later day, but that day never arrived.

It is said that a senior RSS leader had given an indication six months ago. Is it true?
It is another kind of a whisper campaign. The Sangh has never been involved in political activities. I came to know that some ticket aspirants went to seek the blessings of some RSS leaders, and the latter had clarified that the question of Shettar not contesting the elections would not arise.

When did you made up your mind to quit the saffron party?
I was shocked when State Election In-charge Dharmendra Pradhan telephoned me to inform me that I would be denied the ticket. Is it the way to treat people who built and served the party for over three decades? I expressed my rejection of the party's decision on his face, and said, 'Do whatever you want, I will contest the election.' Later national president JP Nadda called, and I gave him the same reply, and requested him to reconsider. Later, the party started negotiations and offered that somebody from my family would contest, and promised to make me a Rajya Sabha member. I clearly informed them that I don't want to bring any of my family members into politics, and that I am also not interested in becoming an MP. While the negotiations were happening, I informed Union Minister Pralahd Joshi that I would wait till April 14 and then take a decision. I had clearly informed them about a respectable exit and requested to be allowed to remain an MLA for six months. As the party was unable to respond, I took a clear stand on quitting BJP. If the central leadership had invited me a week or ten days earlier and informed me about its decision, I would have made up my mind. This all-of-a-sudden decision pained and disturbed me, and I decided to rebel against the party, whatever the consequences.

Why did you choose to join the Congress? Why not any other?
As I was thinking of alternatives, the Congress party sent feelers for talks. Initially, I did think of contesting as an independent, but later realised that since the BJP has a government at the Centre and in the state, they could have hammered me, my followers and workers. Moreover, the whole responsibility would be on me alone. So I chose a national party so that they (the BJP) could be confronted with a greater force. Also, I have no funds to launch a party like Janardhan Reddy or Yediyurappa did.

As you came from the Sangh and Hindutva background, will it not be difficult for you to get adjusted to the Congress party ideology?
My secular image and thoughts will make it easy for me to get adapted with the Congress party ideology, My thinking is maintaining harmony among communities and doing good for everybody, which is the same as the Grand Old Party. When I was the opposition leader and minister, I worked with leaders of all parties, and none spoke negatively about me then. So I will get adjusted to any system.

The Congress party is basically anti-RSS and anti-Hindutva ideology. In case the party leaders criticise the Sangh and its affiliated organisations, won't you feel embarrassed?
My intention is to strive for the public good. I will not be party to what other leaders of the party say or criticise. It is not necessary to criticise the RSS day in day out if I am in the Congress party. If there is any such issue, I will speak then. I don't want to create controversies by speaking on non-issues.

Will your association with RSS continue?
I may not attend the programmes of the Sangh, but my personal relationship with its leaders will continue. But I cannot say whether the relationship will continue or not. I don't want to drag the RSS into my politics.

You pointed out that the State BJP is in the clutches of a few party members. But other parties say, the Central BJP too is in the grip of Narendra Modi and Amit Shah. What is your take?
I don't want to comment on the national leaders and affairs of the national BJP. As far as Modi and Shah are concerned, they have built the party. Why should I say anything about them? As far as Karnataka is concerned, (BJP) leaders here are taking advantage of Modi.

Siddu plays localite card to woo voters

K SHIVA KUMAR @ Mysuru

THE filing of nomination papers from the Varuna constituency by Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah turned out to be a massive show of strength in his home turf with thousands accompanying their leader, who is fighting his last election.

The temple town of Nanjangud was flooded with his supporters, even as the veteran played the emotional card seeking their blessings to counter BJP. Stressing that he is a local, he asked people to ensure his victory by a margin of one lakh votes. "Keen to finish me off politically, BJP has placed its bets on V Somanna, who is from Bengaluru. BJP and JDS also have an understanding which is evident with the candidature of Bharathi Shankar, which is a ploy to divide Dalit votes. Both parties are flooded with money and they will spend large amounts to ensure my defeat. But the people of Varuna will not let me down. My son Yathindra and grandson Daran will be in politics after me," he said.

"Going by the pulse of the people, Congress will win 150 seats. But JDS is hoping for a fractured mandate to take advantage of the situation," he said.

He said his son Yathindra, the sitting MLA of Varuna who is more popular than him in the constituency, will campaign for him. He said he will devote two days to campaign in Varuna.

Dr G BRINGS ONE-TIME FOE TO CONGRESS

Tumakuru: Former Deputy chief minister G Parameshwara on Wednesday succeeded in persuading former MLA and BJP aspirant Gangaha-numaiah of Koratagere to join the Congress. Gangahanumaiah, a SC (left) leader, bagged 31,745 votes against Parameshwara in the 2008 Assembly polls. Dr Parameshwara visited Gangahanumaiah's house here on Wednesday. He is likely to join Congress on Friday. "Since Parameshwara is a tall Dalit leader, we decided to back him at this crucial juncture," Gangahanumaiah's son G Maruthi said. Gangahanumaiah's move is considered a setback for BJP and its candidate BH Anilkumar, a retired IAS officer.

Cong accuses Nadda of 'threatening' voters

AGENCIES @ New Delhi

THE Congress on Wednesday tweeted a video clip of BJP chief JP Nadda's remarks in Karnataka, and accused him of "threatening" the voters and calling his comments a "blatant attack on democracy". Congress general secretary Jairam Ramesh tweeted a video of Nadda addressing an election meeting in Karnataka.

"Vote for the lotus symbol to ensure the river of development continues to flow in Karnataka. Development continues in a constant manner in the state is an issue in the elections. So that the state is not devoid of Modi ji's blessings, I appeal to you to vote for the lotus symbol and take forward development," Nadda is heard saying in the video clip. Ramesh said in a tweet in Hindi, "There should be a limit to devotion too, Nadda ji. Why are you threatening and scaring people of Karnataka?"

Congress victory in state to provide a spark to Kharge ahead of LS polls

K SHIVA KUMAR @ Mysuru

"I WANT to tell state Congress leaders that it does not matter to me who will become the chief minister. I want Congress to win in Karnataka. MLAs and high command will decide the chief minister. You worry about people," asserted AICC president Mallikajun Kharge in Bengaluru on Sunday.

Knowing that the victory for Congress in Karnataka means a lot for Congress and to him as it is his home state, the 80-year-old Kharge sent out a clear message to Ahinda leader Siddaramaiah, KPCC chief DK Shivakumar and others, who are making repeated statements on the chief minister's post, to win the polls first.

The polls here are key ahead of the Assembly elections in Madhya Pradesh, Telangana, Chhattisgarh, and Rajasthan, leading up to the 2024 Lok Sabha elections.

Kharge, who took over as the president of the Grand Old Party at its most trying times when the party had lost its opposition status in the Lok Sabha, wants to win Karnataka that will give him further legitimacy.

The return of Congress to corridors of power will give further impetus to the grouping of opposition parties, including TMC, AAP and TRS, to set a national narrative, allowing Kharge to emerge as a national opposition leader.

Congress lost the bargaining power after winning just 17 out of 70 seats in Bihar and was offered 25 seats by DMK in Tamil Nadu. But an emphatic victory in Karnataka will increase Congress' bargaining power, other than giving a further stamp of approval to Rahul Gandhi's Bharath Jodo Yatra that passed through 530 km in the state.

It will also provide Rahul a further zeal to take on Narendra Modi in the winning spheres of BJP. But a defeat will give scope for too many knives to come out, questioning the party's leadership that would be difficult to contain even with the intervention of Gandhis. Kharge should now pull up his socks and push leaders and cadres to make use of the anti-incumbency factor, PayCM campaign, and allegations of corruption against the government to defeat BJP and not to worry about the chief minister's post.

Political commentator Prof Muzaffar Asadi said this victory is badly needed for Kharge and it will also boost the prospects of Congress at the national level. He said Kharge has drawn the eyeballs of Dalits and the depressed towards Congress, adding to its vote kitty.

NOT A KINGMAKER, BUT WILL BE KING, SAYS HDK

G SUBHASH CHANDRA @ Chitraduga

SENIOR JDS leader and former chief minister HD Kumaraswamy on Wednesday said his party will win in 123 constituencies in the May 10 Karnataka Assembly elections and form the government in the state.

In an exclusive chat with The New Indian Express, Kumaraswamy, who is contesting from Channapatna, said that all pre-poll surveys will be proven wrong once the results are out on May 13. Asked if he will be the kingmaker after the polls in the event of a fractured mandate, Kumaraswamy replied in the negative, saying he will be the king. He said there was no question of a hung Assembly post May 13.

"Kannadigas are frustrated with the national parties and are looking up to the JDS," he said, adding that the party will benefit from the prevailing political scenario in the state.

Calling his party pro-farmer, he said schemes introduced by his government in the past will help the JDS get a comfortable majority.

Commenting on the present political landscape, Kumaraswamy said such large-scale party hopping was unexpected.

On murmurs that he was considering to fight from Mandya, he said, "We have a sitting MLA, and 2-3 able aspirants who can help JDS win Mandya. We are not here to challenge anyone... our workers will give a befitting reply."

He also said that the issues related to Hassan ticket have been resolved and HD Revanna will work for the party candidate's victory.

Kumaraswamy also said that JD(S) is the only regional party in Karnataka that is equivalent to DMK in Tamil Nadu and BRS in Telangana.

Besides, the party has extended external support to CPM candidates in Gulbarga Rural, Bagepalli and KR Puram, and RPI candidates in CV Raman Nagar, Vijayanagar and Mahadevapura. TN Assembly seeks quota for Dalit Christians

T MURUGANANDHAM @ Chennai

THE Tamil Nadu Assembly on Wednesday passed a resolution urging the Centre to extend all benefits accorded to Scheduled Castes,including reservation, to also those SC members who had converted to Christianity to enable them avail benefits of social justice in all respects.

While all other parties, including principal opposition AIADMK, welcomed the resolution, BJP MLA Vanathi Srinivasan staged a walkout with her party colleagues in protest against the resolution. Speaker M Appavu expunged the remarks made by her on the issue.

Moving the resolution, Chief Minister M K Stalin said even after conversion, these Scheduled Caste members are being subjected to untouchability and other casteist atrocities. "We have to look into this aspect with compassion. Just because they got converted to another religion, denying them the rights enjoyed by people of their own community is not right. It is our stand," he said.

Tamil Nadu government had issued orders giving all concessions except reservation to Dalit Christians on a par with SCs. Dalits Christians continue to get all educational assistance, including incentive for pursuing full-time doctorate and higher studies in foreign countries, similar to that of SCs, the CM said. "Our opinion is that along with these concessions, providing reservation too will be appropriate and fair," he said.

According to the Constitution (Scheduled Caste) Order 1950, "No person who professes a religion different from the Hindu, the Sikh or the Buddhist religion shall be deemed to be a member of a Scheduled Caste." In 1956, this order was amended to include those who profess Sikhism and Buddhism as SCs. "Dalit Christians are expecting a similar amendment and this demand has been placed before the government from many quarters," the CM said.

Stalin said though people have the right to practise any religion of their choice, caste cannot be changed.

HC quashes govt notice on changes in birth Act

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court quashed a notification by the state government to amend the Karnataka Registration of Births and Deaths Rules against the Registration of Births and Deaths Act to take away the powers of magistrates and to give them to assistant commissioners (sub-divisional magistrates).

"The power conferred under the Act is neither quasi-judicial nor administrative, it is 'judicial'. If Section 13 of the Act confers certain judicial powers upon a magistrate, it is trite that the Rules cannot take it away by going beyond or deviating from what is mandated under the Act... If the amendment Rule of 2022 is not obliterated, it would be permitting the tail to wag the dog", said Justice M Nagaprasanna, quashing the notification dated July 18, 2022.

Any birth or death not registered within one year shall be registered only on an order of a magistrate of the first class or a presidency magistrate under Section 13(3) of the Act and on payment of a late fee of Rs 10. The state government has brought an amendment to Rule 9, particularly to Rule 9 (3), by the July 18, 2022 notification, to give powers to assistant commissioners.

This was challenged by Sudarshan V Biradar, an advocate from Kalaburagi district, alleging that by this amendment Rules, the state government takes away the power of the magistrate of he first class and places it at the mercy of the assistant commissioner.

The court said the amended rule would lose its legal legs, as it is not intra vires the Act, but ultra vires; if it is ultra vires the parent Act, it cannot but be held to be illegal and a nullity. All actions taken in furtherance of the said notification are declared to be nullity in law, the court said.

It observed that the mandate of the Act is tinkered with by the amendment Rule which runs counter to the Act. The amendment to the Rule, a delegated legislation is to the effect that the parent Act itself is amended. This power is unavailable to the state government in the exercise of its power under Section 30 of the Act. A delegated legislation cannot travel beyond the parent Act. It is trite law that the Rule making power conferred upon by the parent Act cannot travel beyond the mandate of the parent Act, the court added.

School days in Karnataka set to decrease by 26 days

DONNA EVA @Bengaluru

CHILDREN studying in state syllabus schools will receive a huge boon as the number of school days will drastically decrease from last year.

As per guidelines issued by the Department of School Education on the coming academic year 2023-24, the number of school days for children will be reduced by 26 days. The guidelines stated that the total number of school days will be 244 compared to last year's 270, of which only 180 days will be teaching days. These drastic change have been attributed to the pandemic and the lack of learning recovery programme this year.

To make up for the loss of learning that occurred over the pandemic, the academic year 2022-23 began earlier than usual, starting mid-May and overlapped on holidays, so that students could have extra teaching days.

However, with the department marking the programme as a success, from the coming academic year, the number of school days is being decreased to 244 days, with classes expected to begin from May 29.

According to the guidelines, May will have the lowest number of teaching days, with only three days, followed by October, which will have a total of six teaching days. Of the total 244 days, 26 days will go towards assessments and tests, 24 days towards extracurricular activities, 10 days for local holidays, and four days for analysis work. This leaves around 180 days for teaching.

SO FAR NO ONE HAS HELPED US, SAY TRIBALS STRANDED IN SUDAN

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru:

AS the war of words between Union External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar and former chief minister Siddaramaiah continued over Kannadigas and Hakki Pikki tribals stranded in war-torn Sudan, the migrants said so far no help had come.

"We are seeing the messages of Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Jaishankar and Siddaramaiah on Twitter, but so far no one has contacted us. All that the embassy told us is to stay put and not to venture out. But our basic needs are not being addressed," Shandi Bannera, a Hakki Pikki tribal, told TNIE.

"We are 20 people staying in buildings next to each other. All shops are closed. So we purchased stocks of ration, but there is no water or electricity. A water tap, which was located 500 metres away from where we stay, which was our other source of water, now runs dry. We cannot go and even check as shelling is happening all around," he said.

He is one of the many Hakki Pikki tribals who have gone from Karnataka and other parts of South India to Sudan. Shandi (27) had gone with his wife Pavitra nine months back to make a living by selling ayurvedic medicines and other items. Some others went as construction labourers.

Another stranded tribal said: "I had made a call to the Karnataka State Natural Disaster Monitoring Centre seeking help. But said the same thing as the MEA, which we already know. Our families are worried. We came here to make a living, but now all we want is to go back and never return."

Satya, a relative of one of those stranded, said around 80 people from our hamlet from Hunsur went to Sudan. "We are trying everything we can to get them back now. We are worried as we do not know what will happen," he said.

INDIAN EXPRESS IS NOT AN INDUSTRY. IT IS A MISSION.

MILMA VS NANDINI: CONSUMERS MUST BENEFIT IN DAIRY WAR

Two dairy wars are happening in two southern states—Kerala and Karnataka—involving three dominant milk cooperatives. Nandini, a brand owned by the Karnataka Milk Federation (KMF), is facing a threat from Amul, owned by the Gujarat Cooperative Milk Marketing Federation, in its home state. The Karnataka-based cooperative is accused of encroaching into the market territory of neighbouring Kerala and violating the principles of federalism by the Kerala Cooperative Milk Marketing Federation (KCMMF), which owns the brand Milma. KCMMF criticised KMF for opening its outlets in Kerala, claiming it violated the dairy sector's cooperative spirit.

The warring state-run milk cooperatives do not disclose that milk is in short supply in the country and is becoming increasingly expensive for the average citizen. Prices have surged over 15% in the past year, prompting India, the world's largest milk producer, to look at importing some dairy products as milk output has remained more or less stagnant. The total production stood at 221 million tonnes in 2021–22 and fell to 208 million tonnes last year. While the ongoing dairy wars should be seen in the context of falling production, let's analyse who stands to gain and lose.

The milk trade has two main players: consumers and milk farmers/producers. The entry of additional aggregators and processors will benefit farmers, and competition among processors will enhance the value proposition for consumers by making available quality products at reasonable price levels. Regionalism to ward off competition is not new in the market, but it is better served when supply is abundant. If Nandini had surplus milk in its home state and dumped it at a lower rate in Kerala, it would hurt the latter's milk sector. However, Kerala is already a milk-importing state. Moreover, since transporting milk over long distances is not economically feasible, Nandini and Amul will likely focus on selling value-added and premium milk products in other states to improve margins, rather than plain vanilla milk, an essential commodity and very price-sensitive. The entry of Amul, Nandini and even Aavin (from Tamil Nadu) will force Milma to stay competitive and improve its quality and efficiency. Let the market decide who survives and who doesn't. Why should consumers bear the cost of protectionism?

MODERATION THE KEY TO TACKLE CITIZEN PROTESTS

The imperceptible fear that the people's voice is being blanked out across the country gained some degree of validity in Bengaluru, where activists who took out a silent protest to save the city's iconic Sankey Tank were slapped with criminal cases. Seventy citizens who had turned up for the march in February to protest the felling of around 60 trees to build a flyover, face charges for wrongful confinement, unlawful assembly, and obstruction of public way. Police frequently summoned a functionary of the NGO 'Jhatkaa.org' and other citizens for questioning, and allegedly also issued veiled threats to make them give up their activities. Citizens met the police commissioner to protest against such high-handed behaviour, and the case has now been moved to another police station for a fair probe. The project is now on the back burner but will be revived once the Assembly elections are done.

The legal team of the Sankey Tank campaigners who claim they are concerned that the project would jeopardise the environment and biodiversity of Sankey Tank is looking to the Karnataka High Court for relief. They are bolstered by a similar case in which the Bombay High Court recently quashed an FIR against Jhatkaa.org, which was engaged in the 'Save Aarey' protests in Mumbai, again on the felling of trees. The court cited the "democratic right of a citizen of this country to put forth his viewpoint, to object, to protest, to persuade...". It said that attempts to book criminal offences amount to invading citizens' rights. It should come as a relief to Bengaluru's citizen activists, who have termed the police action as an "abuse of law".

Increasingly and disturbingly, the common citizen has to turn to the courts to redress grievances on democratic rights, with the authorities quickly cracking down on dissent. This is especially so when the issue is political, as in the crackdown on student activists, the incarceration of journalists, or the bulldozing of dissenters' homes. This is certainly not expected in a country which calls itself the "biggest democracy" and even the "mother of democracy". The government, which prides itself on strong action, should adopt moderation in such matters, for the country belongs to everyone. Sadly, such swift suo motu action is not visible regarding hate speeches. The continuous suppression of dissent is bound to lead to self-censorship and, consequently, will imperil democracy.

QUICK TAKE

FIGHT CAMPUS DISCRIMINATION

The government backs zero tolerance of discrimination to check the spate of student suicides in IITs. Half the victims hail from SC/ST communities. The government is also perturbed by nearly 10,000 students from these sections dropping out of Central Universities, IITs and IIMs. Suicides and dropouts are related problems driven by the diminishing self-confidence of students facing hardships and alienation without remedy. A holistic policy executed by equal opportunity cells on the campuses can better protect these students. Faculty and staff must be held accountable for prejudicial environments in classrooms, hostels and canteens. A 24x7 grievance redressal system is a must.

The Karnataka government has performed remarkably well on the social development front. In the need to do more for the vulnerable sections, it has gone the extra mile

WHY KARNATAKA NEEDS BJP'S MODEL OF GOVERNANCE

VINAY SAHASRABUDDHE
President, ICCR and senior BJP leader

SOUMYADIP SINHA

For obvious reasons, Karnataka Assembly elections have become extremely important. Voting is just around 20 days away, and it is pertinent to ensure that voters are empowered to make an enlightened choice. In the pre-2000 era, people used to routinely say that post-acquisition of power, all parties govern in a similar fashion. The performance of most parties in governance used to be almost equally good or equally bad.

But post-2000, the situation changed. Former PM Atal Bihari Vajpayee introduced 'Good Governance' as an important factor to be considered while comparing the performance of competing parties. Later, with Prime Minister Narendra Modi at the helm, 'Politics of Performance' entered the political lexicon of India.

Way back in 2014, it was thanks to his suggestion that the Public Policy Research Centre (PPRC) in Delhi conducted an objective analysis of the performances of political parties governing different states. The performances of state governments ruled by the Left parties, Congress, regional parties and the Bharatiya Janata Party were compared for a period of 20 years between 1991–2011. This report made some insightful observations: 'With its strong commitment towards a responsive government, the BJP's model of governance focuses on service delivery through legal mechanisms and application of e-governance. The Madhya Pradesh Public Service Delivery Guarantee Act, e-governance initiatives of BJP-ruled states like Sakala (Karnataka) and Swagat (Gujarat) have been widely recognised and appreciated.' In yet another conclusion, the report said 'All BJP-ruled states have shown remarkable and consistent economic growth. As evident above, BJP-ruled states have been consistently above 8% growth rate for GSDP.'

Today, this is relevant even in Karnataka as except for the BJP, no other contesting party has the courage to talk about 'Politics of Performance'. Prudent fiscal management, smart administrative measures to ensure effective last-mile delivery, and ensuring that the 'most deprived are considered as the most deserving', in keeping with the principles of Antyodaya, are the three critical dimensions of the performance of the BJP government in Karnataka.

Let's examine the fiscal conditions. With a revenue surplus of ₹402 crore estimated for 2023–24 compared to a revenue deficit estimate of ₹14,699 crore in the 2022–23 budget, Karnataka has now consolidated its position in the league of states with a high revenue surplus. The fiscal deficit of the state is estimated at 2.6% of the GSDP for 2023–24, which is well within the 3% limit prescribed under the KFR Act. The state's performance in sectors like agriculture, manufacturing and services has been remarkable thanks to strict governance. Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, during his budget speech a few months back, had rightly claimed that for the first time, the capital and revenue expenditure had been 76% till January and that number was not achieved by any government in the past. Notably, Karnataka is second in GST collection and the state's growth rate stands at 7.8% as against 6.8% of the Government of India. All this indicates that projects and programmes are not just on paper, but being implemented on the ground.

Similarly, Karnataka has been acting as a great investment magnet due to its administration model. Notably, it was the top recipient state with 38% share of the total FDI equity inflow ($83.57 billion) in FY 2021–22. During the calendar year 2021, Karnataka bagged an FDI of $18,554.29 million. In comparison, Tamil Nadu received $3,023.33 million, Telangana received $1,584.59 million, Kerala received $310.67 million, and Andhra Pradesh $178.09 million.

On the social development front, too, the state government has performed remarkably well. In the light of an improved fiscal situation and the need to do more for the vulnerable sections, it has gone the extra mile. Take the case of the former Devadasis. The state government has increased their pension from ₹500 (under the Congress government) to ₹1,500 per month, thereby helping more than 30,000 former Devadasis. Again, for old age homes, the BJP government has increased maintenance funds from ₹8 lakh to ₹15 lakh. Senior citizens in Karnataka also have a reason to be more happy. Here, the old age pension for people above 65 years under the Sandhya Suraksha Scheme has now been enhanced from ₹600 to ₹1000. Similarly, under the Pradhan Mantri Kisan Samman Nidhi Scheme, while the Central government gives ₹6,000 per head, Karnataka has been providing an additional assistance of ₹4,000 to each of the beneficiaries.

Karnataka's performance in service delivery, too, merits attention. Karnataka has the second highest number of Jan Aushadi Kendras in the country, with 1,052 stores providing generic medicines at subsidised rates.

In 2010, Karnataka launched the Vajpayee Arogyashree scheme (VAS), a social health insurance scheme focused on increasing access to tertiary care for households below the poverty line. Researchers in public health studies point out that VAS has "led to a substantial reduction in mortality driven by increased tertiary care utilisation as well as use of better quality facilities and earlier diagnosis. Second, it significantly reduced the financial burden of receiving tertiary care. Third, these benefits of social health insurance were achieved at a reasonable cost to society and taxpayers."

The proof of the pudding is in eating. Similarly, it is the effective implementation that marks the success of 'Good Governance'. It must be noted that perhaps BJP is the only party that has an established practice of monitoring the performance of its state governments. PM Narendra Modi and party president J P Nadda sit continuously for several hours assessing and evaluating how development governance is taking shape in BJP-ruled states. It is not for no reason then that when BJP talks about Sabka Saath, Sabka Vikas, it doesn't sound hollow. Karnataka can't afford to lose the momentum gathered by development. True, BJP needs to win Karnataka but that Karnataka needs BJP is equally true.

FOCUS ON MANUFACTURING TO RAMP UP FDI INFLOWS

DR BISWAJIT DHAR
Former Professor, Jawaharlal Nehru University and Vice President, Council for Social Development

K S CHALAPATI RAO
Senior Research Fellow, Academy of Business Studies, Delhi

Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) flows were subdued in most parts of the world after the first quarter of 2022. According to the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD), this slack in FDI inflows will continue this year. The most proximate reason for these downward trends was the uncertainty caused by Russia's invasion of Ukraine. But another significant factor influenced the direction of capital flows, namely, the progressively stronger quantitative tightening pursued by the US Federal Reserve (Fed). With the central banks in several advanced countries opting to follow the Fed, foreign investors' decisions were influenced by higher interest rates in these countries. Most emerging economies witnessed a slowdown in FDI inflows during this period of uncertainties.

The global trends have been reflected in India as well. During the current financial year, FDI inflows were significantly off the high of $82 billion that the country witnessed in 2020–21, which happened despite the Covid-induced downturn. According to the latest data available from the Reserve Bank of India, for the first ten months of the previous financial year (April–January), gross FDI inflows were $61.5 billion—significantly below the $70.5 billion received in the corresponding period of 2021–22. It may be pointed out that in 2020–21, the year in which FDI inflows reached the record level, inflows during April-January were almost $73 billion. In other words, the inflows during April-January of 2022–23 were almost 17% below the level recorded during the same period in 2020–21.

A better indicator of the investment climate can be gauged from the trends vis-à-vis "direct investment in India", which excludes repatriation of foreign capital or divestment by foreign companies from the gross FDI inflows. During April-January of 2022–23, direct investment into India was $37.6 billion, or 18.6% lower than the inflows during the corresponding period in 2021–22. These indicate the increased trend of repatriation of foreign capital from India. Since 2021–22, divestments by foreign companies have increased to above $24 billion, a trend that could be maintained in the previous fiscal year. During April-January of 2022–23, divestment of foreign companies as a ratio of gross investments was 39.2%, an increase of nearly 5% from the previous year's level. In 2022–23, the ratio of divestment to gross investments was almost 20% higher than this figure for 2020–21.

Attracting foreign companies to beef up the country's manufacturing sector has been one of the major objectives of successive governments since the economic reforms were initiated three decades ago. The present government's flagship programmes, the Make in India initiative as well as the more recent Production Linked Incentive (PLI) Scheme, were no exceptions.

However, investments in India's manufacturing sector have not been the priority of foreign investors despite the fact that the country's investment regime is now among the most liberal among all major economies. In fact, the manufacturing sector has been attracting less than a fourth of the total foreign investment in recent years.

PTI

> For several years, foreign investors have found India's service sector very attractive, investing several times more in this sector compared to the manufacturing sector

The PLI scheme's introduction has not changed this pattern. Data for April to December of 2022–23 shows that the manufacturing sector had attracted less than 21.7% of the total FDI inflows. Though the share of the manufacturing sector was relatively less, more than 82% of these inflows were in the high technology sector, with chemicals and pharmaceuticals industries accounting for nearly half of the inflows. The electronics industry, which had attracted large inflows during the past couple of years, saw relatively less inflows during the three quarters of the previous fiscal year.

For several years, foreign investors have found India's service sector very attractive, investing several times more in this sector compared to the manufacturing sector. During April-December 2022–2023, FDI inflows into the service sector were 74.6% of the total. Information Technology Enabled Services (ITES) was the most popular among foreign investors; 18.6% FDI inflows were routed to this.

Several commentators have argued that FDI inflows to host countries are largely dependent on the motivations of the foreign companies. This implies that the extent of openness of investment regimes in the host countries are necessary but not the sufficient conditions for attracting foreign investment. The decisions of foreign investors, the argument goes, are dependent on the existence of large markets, but more importantly, on the existence of strategic assets in the host countries. The pattern of FDI inflows into India resonates with the above-mentioned arguments. ITES and several other segments in the service sector have witnessed large inflows due to the presence of an efficient workforce that can be regarded as the strategic asset. Since the beginning of the current millennium, India's ITES has been able to extend its businesses in the global marketplace and it is now evident that foreign investors are utilising this workforce to expand their presence in India's service sector.

Despite the slowdown in FDI inflows, one of the positives is the change in the top sources. For more than a decade and a half, the two countries that contributed most to FDI inflows were Mauritius and Singapore. With Mauritius, the problem was that of round-tripping, a phenomenon that was fuelled by the fact that investors could get away by avoiding paying any taxes. While India was not taxing outflows of capital from India, Mauritius was offering a tax-free regime, which the investors were taking advantage of. This problem was addressed and FDI inflows from Mauritius have declined. During April-December 2022-23, Singapore remained the largest source, and the US was the second largest.

What are the takeaways for the government from these trends in FDI inflows? The most important of these is to create strategic assets in the manufacturing sector so as to get foreign investors interested in investing in this sector. This is where the government should focus its attention.

Congress' progress

Apropos of Modi cannot say no progress made in Congress rule (Apr 19). As the CM of a Congress-ruled state, Bhupesh Baghel feels rightly piqued about BJP claiming no progress was made during Congress rule. He lists many development steps which Congress governments either initiated or begun. But he cannot deny the rampant corruption, inefficiency and shortcomings in their execution. Indeed, we have come a long way thanks to the Modi dispensation.
C S Hayavadana Rao, Bengaluru

Baghel's views

Kudos to the Chhattisgarh CM for lucidly outlining the achievements of Congress and other non-BJP governments. One must understand that the first PM took the reins in a very tough situation and so development was slow. Over a period of time, every other PM did his/her best to take the country forward. PM Modi has the right to criticise the policies of previous governments but can't simply say nothing has been achieved.
N Nagarajan, email

Shifting loyalty

Jagadish Shettar shifting his loyalty to the Congress after being denied a party ticket has exposed his personal disappointment, leading to an erosion of value-based politics for the sake of power. Those who sit among us and undermine our interest at the same time are more venomous than those who openly oppose us. BJP should curb the malafide activities of dissenters.
R Pichumani, Kumbakonam

Population boom

It is appalling to hear that India is the world's most populous country at over 142 cr, overtaking China by 2.9 million. It is high time we take measures including family planning to handle this trend, which thwarts all development schemes.
Sundaram Govind, Aluva

Arjun's accolades

Playing only in his second game in IPL after warming the bench for two seasons, Arjun Tendulkar has already impressed everyone with his left-arm seam bowling. In the match against SRH, he won plenty of accolades for bowling a tight last over, conceding just five runs and picking up his maiden wicket in IPL.

The article, Talent tougher to build than factories (Apr 19), makes for interesting reading. The author is right to compare development of talent to responsible and sincere parenting. In every organisation, this does not only fall on the HR department but equally on the CEO as well.

Andrea Wojnar, UNFPA India representative

INDIA has become the most populous country with a population of 142.86 crore, surpassing China's 142.57 crore, according to the United Nation Population Fund's State of the World Population Report (SWOP) 2023.

This is the first time India has topped the list of most populous countries after the UN started working on data collection on population in 1950.

The report titled, '8 Billion Lives, Infinite Possibilities: The Case for Rights and Choices', said 25 per cent of India's population falls under the age bracket of 0 to 14 years, while 18 per cent come under the age-category of 10 -19.

The share of population under the age-bracket of 10-24 years 26 per cent. Those in the age bracket of 15-65 years account for 68% of India's population. Only 7 per cent of India's population is above 65 years of age at a time when growth in population warrants an attention. Nearly 50 per cent of India's population is below the age of 25 years, according to UNFPA India representative Andrea Wojnar.

The report further stated that by 2050, India's population is expected to rise to 166.8 crore, while China's population would dip to 131.7 crore.

The UN projections estimate that the country's population is expected to grow for the next three decades after which it will begin declining. According to report's age-wise break-up, India's 2.5 crore population is in the age bracket of aged 0-14 and 1.8 crore in the 10-19 age bracket. As many as 2.6 crore is aged between10 and 24, while 6.8 crore is aged between 15 and 64. The report has also stated that India's total fertility rate per women is 2.0. Life-expectancy is 71 for males and 74 for females.

"It is good sign that female life expectancy in India is more than the life expectancy of male in India. It shows a new kind of regeneration taking place in the country", said PKD Nambiar, an analyst of politics and population. The contraceptive prevalence rate amongst women, aged 15-49, by any method as of 2023 is 51 per cent. Andrea Wojnar, who is the representative for United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA) India, said, "India's 1.4 billion people must be seen as 1.4 billion opportunities. As the country with the largest youth cohort -- its 254 million youth (15-24 years) -- can be a source of innovation, new thinking and lasting solutions".

According to the World Population Prospects-2022, India's population last year was 141.2 crore, while China's population was 142.6 crore. The report said the global population was projected to reach 8 billion on November 15.

Govt committed to building drug-free India by '47: Shah

AMIT MUKHERJEE @ New Delhi

Home Minister Amit Shah addressed the 1st National Conference of Heads of Anti-Narcotics Task Force of States and Union Territories in Delhi on Wednesday | EXPRESS

THE government is committed to building a drug-free India by 2047, Union Home Minister Amit Shah on Wednesday.

Attending the first National Conference of Heads of Anti-Narcotics Task Force of States and Union Territories, the home minister said it is very important to guard the future generations and this necessitates strict action against drug dealers who are ruining the young generation and destabilising the economy Under Prime Minister Narendra Modi, the government is "committed to building a drug-free India by 2047", he said, adding that the "vision of drug-free India is important for the future generations, and at this crucial stage in the fight against drugs, if we move forward with determination, collective efforts,

"Team India" and "Whole of Government Approach", then our victory is certain" Shah said while many countries across the globe have failed in the battle against narcotics, India is at a stage where we can win against this fight by moving forward with the determination of 130-crore people. The home minister said we have two important weapons in the fight against drugs – PITNDPS and confiscation of property. He said that "ruthless action should be taken against the drug dealers only then this fight will gain momentum." He said the states should work in coordination with the central agencies to curb the use of dark net and cryptocurrency.

Along with this, all the states should also work together with the National Forensic Science University to use modern technologies like block chain analysis, map intelligence and digital forensics. He said that if we work well along with these techniques, we will find ourselves two steps ahead in this fight. Shah said that we have to move forward with the 'Bottom to Top' and 'Top to Bottom' approach to destroy the entire network of narcotics.

He said that in a few selected interstate and international cases these approaches should be developed by giving them to NCB for proper investigation. He emphasised that the main objective of the Anti-Narcotics Task Force and this conference is 'Solution Oriented Thinking'.

India can turn population bonus into an opportunity, says expert

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

INDIA is now the world's most populous country in the world. Demographic data released on Wednesday by the United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA) estimates India's population at 1.4286 billion, against 1.4257 billion for China. Does this mean that India needs a population control policy to reduce the growing burden on the country's resources and economics?

"Certainly not," said Srinivas Goli, Associate Prof, Department of Fertility and Social Demography, International Institute for Population Sciences, Mumbai. In an exclusive chat with TNIE, he said being the world's most populous country is "not a problem. Rather, I look forward to more positive prospects in terms of economic and geopolitical opportunities that it will bring. I say so because human population is shrinking globally, and it could be the next big threat to geopolitics and economies. Also, the current decline in birth rates, to a large extent, is irreversible".

He said barring England, not a single country has been able to raise its birth rate, despite huge monetary incentives. "According to the latest UN Population Prospects, fertility levels across 124 countries are lower than the replacement level (two children replacing their parents), and in several countries, a low number of births is a concern. Over 80 countries suffer from shrinking population due to very low fertility (less than two children), and 55 have introduced pro-natalist measures to up birth rates. These have proven largely ineffective. In large countries like China, India, Indonesia and Brazil, fertility is either at the replacement level or below. Except in Africa and a few Arab countries, fertility levels are not a big concern," he said.

Goli said "population growth in India will continue for some more time because of the population momentum effect, that is, future mothers who are already born and continue to have children". He stressed that India does not need strong-arm population control policies. "India completed its fertility transition in 46 years; for the same, it took around 225 years for France, 215 years for the United Kingdom and 140 years for the USA. Similarly, within India, the contribution of fertility change among illiterate and poor women is also significant, despite limited resources to achieve their fertility choices. However, some women end up giving birth to more children than the desired number, mainly because of lack of access to family planning services and uncertainty of their child's survival," he added.

Regarding the costs that population numbers will induce to the country, Goli said there is no need to worry "if we implement effective policies to make use of the demographic bonus that we are experiencing today". The focus, he said, should be on population age structure which is currently favourable to reap economic benefits through growing the labour force and consumer market within India and overseas. "However, a favourable population structure doesn't automatically turn into economic benefits," cautioned Goli.

Meanwhile, Population Foundation of India Executive Director Poonam Muttreja said, "The government has made contraceptive options available to people, while programmes such as Mission Parivar Vikas are reaching out to districts which are underserved. However, the programmatic discourse should focus on ensuring that comprehensive and equitable services are available to people, regardless of their strata in society. Girls should not be pushed into early marriages and pregnancies, which limit their aspirations," said Muttreja.

Heatwaves may impede social development

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

A new study shows that heatwaves in India are increasing in frequency, intensity and lethality, which might disrupt the progress of achieving Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). Heatwaves are burdening public health, agriculture, and other socio-economic and cultural systems and thereby the economy.

The study "Lethal heat waves are challenging India's sustainable development" published in PLOS Climate states climate change induced heatwaves may impede India's progress toward its SDGs. India is committed to achieve 17 SDGs set by the United Nations which intend to eradicate poverty, achieve good health and well-being, decent work and economic growth.

The study analysed India's heat Index (HI) with its climate vulnerability index (CVI) to analyse the country's climate vulnerability. Using publicly available data and comparing India's progress in SDG over 20 years (2001-21) with extreme weather-related mortality in the given period.

The study estimated the Heat Index, which shows that nearly 90% of the country is in danger zone from heat wave impact. However, CVI, which is more a composite index accounting socioeconomic, livelihood and biophysical factors assessed that around 20% of the country is highly vulnerable to climate change.

Similar effects were observed for the national capital, where HI estimates show almost all of Delhi is threatened by severe heat wave impacts, which is not reflected in its recent state action plan for climate change. The research results showed that Delhi lies in the 6–7°C temperature anomaly zone. This will aggravate heat-related vulnerabilities like concentration of slum population and overcrowding in high HI areas, lack of access to basic amenities like electricity, water and sanitation, non-availability of immediate healthcare and health insurance, poor condition of housing and dirty cooking fuel.

In the study, there are huge disparities over heat impact in two indexes. The study explains that CVI doesn't not include measures of the primary climate change risks (like heatwaves). So it fails to identify the regions of greatest vulnerability to climate change.

However, results showed that combining HI with CVI can identify practical climate vulnerability impacts that account for extreme weather events at the state level. This, in turn, aids in developing a better understanding of India's SDG progress. This paper advocates the urgency of improving India's extreme weather vulnerability assessment while supporting its developmental needs.

"This study shows that heatwaves make more Indian states vulnerable to climate change than previously estimated with the CVI. The heatwaves in India and the Indian subcontinent become recurrent and long-lasting, it is high time that climate experts and policymakers re-evaluate the metrics for assessing the country's climate vulnerability" says Ramit Debnath, one of the authors of the paper at University of Cambridge, United Kingdom. Debnath further adds that heatwaves are putting 80% of the country's people in danger which remains unaccounted for in its current climate vulnerability assessment.

"If this impact is not addressed immediately, India can slow its progress towards sustainable development goals" he further said. This paper advocates the urgency of improving India's extreme weather vulnerability assessment while supporting its developmental needs.

'UK is keen to assist India with jet engine, electric propulsion technology'

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

THE United Kingdom is ready to assist India with the technology related to electric propulsion and also India's bid for indigenously developed jet engine. A memorandum of understanding (MoU) on military training is also under discussions between the two countries, said Admiral Sir Tony Radakin, Chief of Defence Staff (CDS) of the UK, on Wednesday.

Admiral Radakin's visit is the latest in the interaction and visits at the high levels in addition to the Military to military engagements between India and the UK.

Sharing the fine points of the UK's offerings towards Make in India initiatives, he said: "There are lots of ways and they're exciting ways. The sharing of maritime electric propulsion... we've been on that journey for 20 years, so can we help India to accelerate and know everything that we've learned over the last 20 years. We are doing that. Various working groups have come to India we've had a working group in UK."

"One of the topics under debate at the moment is a training MoU which would allow the UK and Indian forces to have this training ethos and basis for us to come together in the future. And that's across all domains, land, air, and maritime," he added.

The CDS was speaking to journalists on Wednesday, the concluding day of his three-day visit which coincides with the visit of the Chief of Royal Air Force, Air Chief Marshal Sir Mike Wigston. "The UK is proud of being a joint force where maritime, air and land work together and we're looking to more strongly include space and cyber domains."

UGC to varsities: Allow students to write exams in local languages

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

THE University Grants Commission (UGC) has asked universities to allow students to write exams in local languages even if the course is offered is in English medium. It further encouraged the varsities to promote the translation of original writing into local languages.

In a letter to all vice-chancellors, the UGC said higher education institutions play a significant role in preparing textbooks and supporting the teaching-learning process in the mother tongue/local languages. The commission stressed that it is necessary to strengthen these efforts and "promote such initiatives as writing textbooks in the mother tongue/local languages and encouraging their use in teaching, including translating standard books from other languages".

"Therefore, the commission requests that students in your university be allowed to write the answers in local languages in examinations even if the programme is offered in English medium, and promote translation of original writing in local languages and use local language in the teaching-learning process at universities," the letter by UGC Chairman M Jagadesh Kumar said. The letter said promotion and regular use of Indian languages in education is a crucial area of focus in the National Education Policy 2020.

The policy emphasises the importance of teaching and instruction in the mother tongue/local languages, it said. It said that it is encouraging to note that the teaching-learning process in local languages is also being promoted by higher education institutions/universities/colleges in every state of our country. "This has benefited students, particularly the socially and economically disadvantaged groups. However, the academic ecosystem generally continues to be English medium centric," it said.

"Once teaching, learning and assessment are done in the local languages, the student engagement will eventually increase leading to an increase in success rate. This will significantly strengthen the efforts of achieving the target of enhancing the GER in higher education from 27 per cent to 50 per cent by 2035," the letter said. UGC has also sought information from the universities on the list of books referred for teaching in local languages, availability of faculties who can understand and teach in local languages, availability of local publishers for printing textbooks in local languages and whether students can write answers in local languages.

Nod to changes in law to curb film piracy; new certifications on cards

AMIT MUKHERJEE @ New Delhi

THE Union Cabinet has approved the Cinematograph (Amendment) Bill that proposes to introduce more categories for film certification and bring in stricter penal provisions to prevent film piracy. The bill will be presented in Parliament in the monsoon session. The purpose of the bill is ensuring that content is not affected by piracy. It is also aimed safeguarding the interest and investments of producers and filmmakers. The bill proposes imprisonment ranging from three months to three years and a fine of at least Rs 3 lakh and up to Rs 10 lakh which may extend to a sum of 5 per cent of the audited gross production cost of the film.

Under the proposed amendments pertaining to certification of films under the 'unrestricted public exhibition', the Bill has introduced new film certification categories that will include U or universal, U/A 7+ , U/A 13+, and U/A 16+, besides an 'A' rating for content restricted for viewing by only adults.

At present, under the Indian Cinematograph Act, three categories of film certification exist -- U, parental guidance required for children under 12 or U/A, and adult films or A. The proposed amendments allowing sub-categorisation for film certification, appear to be in line with the age-based restrictions recently implemented for over-the-top (OTT) content providers under the Information Technology (Intermediary Guidelines and Digital Media Ethics Code) Rules, 2021 (Intermediary Rules).

In June 2021, the government had issued a notification seeking public comments to the Cinematograph (Amendment) Bill 2021, proposing two further amendments to the Cinematograph Act than those already proposed in 2019.

THANE FIRE

A major fire which broke out at a commercial complex in Maharashtra's Thane city was brought under control after 10 hours on Wednesday morning, officials said. At least 15 vehicles parked in the building were charred.

Pawar tightens his grip over NCP, tells Ajit not to break it

Says party MLAs facing central agencies are free to go with the BJP

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

After the lid was blown off the plans of Ajit Pawar to switch sides with the BJP, NCP chief Sharad Pawar has sought to tighten his grip over the party. He has told his nephew and senior NCP leader Ajit not to break the party and that if he wanted to leave, he could do so or with the help of some NCP MLAs who are under the scanner of Central agencies.

NCP MLA and chief whip Anil Patil met Sharad Pawar at his residence and told him not to succumb to any pressure. Anil Patil was earlier was with the BJP and is now perceived close to Ajit Pawar. Patil was one of the MLA who went with Ajit in an 80-hour government with BJP in 2019.

"Pawar also reportedly told him that nothing should be done without his permission even though Ajit Pawar is the leader of the Opposition and de facto boss of the NCP in the assembly.

While taking any decision, he should be taken in the loop," said a highly placed source.

The developments came in the wake of reports that Ajit Pawar would switch to BJP and that he had already started mobilizing 40 MLAs.

NCP sources said Ajit Pawar expressed his displeasure to their staff over the leak of his secret operation and meeting with Amit Shah in Delhi.

"Ajit Pawar and other NCP senior leaders who are facing serious charges before the Central probe agencies want to join the BJP as a party, but NCP chief Sharad Pawar has categorically told them that they can do so as an individual, not as a party, at this juncture," said a senior NCP leader.

Source said the news report and massive coverage to it have spoiled the plan of Ajit Pawar and the BJP.

"The BJP's top leadership is also upset over the leak of the operation's details. However, this operation has been halted for some uncertain period. It will resume after the Supreme Court's verdict on Maharashtra CM Ekanth Shinde faction MLAs' disqualification for anti-party activities. The Karnataka state assembly results are also very significant for developments in Maharashtra," said the source.

Ajit Pawar met his party leaders which include senior NCP leader Chhagan Bhujbal, Sunil Tatkare, Dilip Walse Patil and Anil Deshmukh to discuss the further persuasion plan to NCP chief Sharad Pawar joining hands with the BJP.

Sources said the NCP leaders who received Central agencies' notice and are facing charges are requesting Sharad Pawar to accept Ajit's demand for going with the BJP so that the cases against them are not followed up.

"I am so old that I want relief at this age. I take daily doses of several medicines for sugar and blood pressure. It's really tough to sit in a Central agency's office for seven-eight hours. We want to spend time with our families, not in jail. We continue to request Pawar, but he is asking us to wait," said a senior NCP leader who is currently facing an inquiry by a Central agency.

I'm a BJP MLA, party has taken care of my Delhi stay: Mukul Roy

PRANAB MANDAL @ Kolkata

WEST Bengal's politician Mukul Roy, who changed his political allegiance twice in the past six years, made his political stance clear for the third time on Wednesday, saying he is all set to join the BJP and meet Union Home minister Amit Shah and saffron camp's national president J.P. Nadda.

"I am a BJP MLA. The party has made arrangements for my stay in Delhi. I want to meet Amit Shah and speak to BJP's national president," said Roy, 48 hours after arriving the national capital without informing his family members, who lodged a 'missing' diary with two police stations in Kolkata.

Roy, one of the founding member of the TMC, joined the BJP in 2017 after his strained relationship with the TMC leadership. He, however, returned to the TMC's fold in 2019 after the Assembly elections in Bengal. Reacting to Roy's Delhi visit, CM Mamata Banerjee on Wednesday said, "Anyone can go anywhere. He is now a BJP MLA. His son lodged a missing diary and police investigated it seriously. He may be taken under pressure."

"I was not keeping well for some time. So was away from politics. I am 100 per cent confident that I will never be associated with the TMC," said Roy

Maoist link: SC sets aside HC order acquitting Saibaba

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

The Supreme Court on Wednesday set aside the Bombay High Court's order acquitting former Delhi University (DU) professor GN Saibaba, who is accused of having Maoist ties, and remanded the case back to HC for fresh consideration.

Noting that Saibaba was discharged by the HC in the absence of sanction to prosecute him under UAPA and had agreed to decide on the appeal against sessions judge, Gadchiroli, sentencing the accused(s) to life imprisonment on merits, a bench headed by Justices MR Shah asked the high court to decide on the appeals against trial court's order afresh.

The court also asked the HC to adjudicate on the aspect of "sanction to prosecute" and dispose of the case preferably within four months. The bench also urged the chief justice of the high court to place the matter before another bench and not the one which had acquitted Saibaba.

"In view of the consensus between the parties and without entering into the merits of the case, with the consent of the counsel of the respective parties, we set aside the impugned common judgment and order passed by Bombay HC.

The matters are remitted back to the HC to decide the appeals afresh in accordance with law and on its own merits, including the question of sanction. Proprietary demands that the remand appeals be placed before another bench to avoid any further apprehension," the bench said in its order.

On October 14 last-year, the Bombay HC had declared the entire proceedings of the trial before the sessions judge, Gadchiroli, as null and void for failing to follow procedural safeguards, taking cognisance of charge sheet against Saibaba in 2014 without having the sanction to prosecute him under UAPA. The HC ordered for release of the professor along with other accused.

The trial court had sentenced the accused to life imprisonment for offences under UAPA and criminal conspiracy. Although the HC had directed for professor's release, the Supreme Court on October 15 in a special hearing on a Saturday suspended the HC's order.

Congress, Thackeray wary of Ajit Pawar

Following speculation that Ajit Pawar may join hands with the BJP, Uddhav Thackeray and the Congress have decided not to rely too much on NCP, their partner in the MVA. They are likely to make conscious efforts to expand their party base by addressing rallies , among others, ahead of the elections. Although NCP chief Sharad Pawar has assured them that his party will remain a part of the Opposition, the Congress and Thackeray are not too sure. Congress general secretary KC Venugopal's meeting with Uddhav Thackeray at Matoshree is considered to be a part of this strategy. More such meetings are expected to take place.

State Congress unit to get new chief

Maharashtra Congress is likely to get a new president in the next few days once the shortlisted name is approved by Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge. Nana Patole, the incumbent Maharashtra Congress president, is likely to be replaced by either former Minster of State Satej Patil – the Maratha face from western Maharashtra – or Sunil Kedar, the Vidarbha OBC leader who recently wrestled the local bodies from BJP in Nagpur. A dark horse may also emerge at the eleventh hour.

Fadnavis to be fielded in Pune LS bypoll?

After the demise of BJP's Pune MP Girish Bapat, the party is looking to identify his successor. Among the names which are being bandied about include Pune mayor Murlidhar Mohal. There is also a buzz in political circle that as a part of the elevation process, the party's top leadership may field Maharashtra deputy CM Devendra Fadnavis in the for Pune Lok Sabha by-poll and induct him as a cabinet minister at the Centre, while promoting another Maratha leader. However, there is no clarification on when the final decision will be taken in this context. It is speculated that the final decision may be taken by the top leadership of the BJP.

Guv returns bill seeking to raise quota up to 77%

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

GOVERNOR CP Radhakrishnan has returned the bill for review, seeking an increase in the reservation for government jobs and education institutions up to 77 per cent. He is said to have returned the bill on the basis of a legal opinion from the attorney general of India.

Notably, the state government got the bill passed in haste in November last year, allegedly for political gains. The bill seeks to increase the Other Backward Class (OBC) quota from 14% to 27% and that of Schedule Tribes (ST) to 28% from 26% and Scheduled Castes (SC) to 12% from 10%.

With the inclusion of the 10% reservation for the Economically Weaker Sections (EWS), the total reservation in state jobs would go up to 77%. As per sources, the Attorney General said the bill was contrary to the orders of the Supreme Court. He stated that the SC in the Indira Sawhney case fixed the caste reservation limit at 50 per cent.

UP fin secy, spl secy taken into custody for contempt of court over facilities to CJ

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

THE UP finance secretary and special secretary, finance, were taken into court custody on Wednesday for criminal contempt of court following an order of the Allahabad High Court in connection with delaying the facilities such as providing domestic help to the former Chief Justice and former judges of the Allahabad HC on one pretext or the other.

"The officers shall showcause as to why charges may not be framed against them," the court added.

Taking serious note of the non-compliance of the court's order despite specific direction passed by it earlier, the High Court ordered to take UP's secretary finance Shahid Manzoor Abbas Rizvi and special secretary, finance, Saryu Prasad Mishra into custody.

The order was passed by a division bench, comprising Justice Suneet Kumar and Justice Rajendra Kumar, giving directions that the two officers should be produced before the court on Thursday, April 20, 2023, for framing of charges.

However, while passing the order, senior advocate, representing the officers made a request that the officers, taken into custody, be released on bail.

The court then said that this request shall be considered on the date fixed for hearing, which is April 20.

Record 3.7L tourists visit Srinagar's Tulip Garden

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

A record all time high of 3.70 lakh people, majority of them domestic tourists, have visited Asia's largest Tulip Garden in Srinagar since it was thrown open last month.

Incharge of the garden Inamul-Rehman told this newspaper, that Tulip garden remained the centre of attraction for the tourists visiting Kashmir during the month.

He said a record 3.70 lakh visited, including over 3 lakh domestic tourists, about 60,000 locals and over 3,000 foreign tourists this year. The Tulip garden is spread over 30 hectares of land and is situated on the banks of world famous Dal lake and on foothills of Zabarwan range.

On Wednesday, when Kashmir witnessed moderate to heavy rainfall throughout the day, about 50,00 people visited the garden.

The garden was thrown open for visitors on March 20. The figure of 3.70 lakh visitors visiting the Tulip garden is an all time record registered.

With the Tulip garden still having 20 per cent tulip bloom, the number is likely to go further up. In 2020, a record 3.60 lakh tourists visited the garden to witness the beautiful sight of tulip bulbs in myriad colours in full bloom.

This year the garden had 16 lakh tulips of 68 varieties, including four new varieties. The carpet of flowers, which gives one a feeling of paradise, attracts a lot of tourists and locals every year.

Army convoys move only by road, CAPF veterans counter former guv Malik

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

VETERAN Central Armed Police Force (CAPF) officers have questioned former J&K governor Satyapal Malik's statement in his sensational disclosure on the February 14, 2019, Pulwama attack in which 40 CRPF personnel were martyred in a suicide blast. In The Wire interview, which has gone viral, Malik alleged that "CRPF people" had requested the convoy be airlifted because of Intelligence reports, and were denied by the Home ministry, and that he would have given the aircraft if asked. "Only five aircrafts were needed for the convoy," he said.

"In the interview, Malik said that such a big convoy never went by road (itna bada convoy kabhi road se nahi jaata), whereas the fact is that convoy movement of armed forces and CAPF has always been by road," said a former CAPF top officer, on condition of anonymity. "There are manuals for each force for everything; from convoy movement to their board, lodging, formations, operations, leave etc. These are strictly followed. Troop movement has always been by road. It is an extremely sensitive exercise because safety of troops is paramount. Instructions are sent verbally to commanding officers for fear of being leaked, and the same are maintained in files," said the officer.

He and other veterans questioned Malik's following statement in the interview, in which he alleged that CRPF had requested the Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) for aircrafts but were denied. "If they had asked me, I would have given (mujhsey poochtey toh main deta). Only five aircrafts were required," the former J&K governor said in the interview. "The fact is that the J&K Lt Governor (then governor) is entitled to only one chopper, which is for his use and his other VIP guests. The chopper can at best accommodate not more than eight to 10 people. From where would he have given the aircrafts to airlift such a large CRPF convoy? The governor can requisition aircrafts from the Ministry of Defence (MoD) or MHA. The latter, in turn, places the request before the Ministry of Civil Aviation or MoD," said the former chiefs.

Sources added that post Pulwama, security and Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) for troop movement have indeed been overhauled, with stringent checks and measures and the issue of 'entitlement' has been relaxed for CAPF personnel. "After the Pulwama attack, the SOP to restrict traffic movement on the road on which troops move, has been tightened. (An explosive laden vehicle by suicide bomber Adil Ahmed Dar had rammed the convoy, leading to the martyrdom of 40 CRPF personnel). After every 10 vehicles (carrying troops) there is a bullet-proof police vehicle escort. Drones are used to pilot the convoys for aerial surveillance. And now, permission has been given to all CAPF personnel to fly from Jammu to Srinagar at government expense," said sources.

FACEBOOK parent Meta has started firing employees in the second round of layoffs, from Wednesday. Many employees have started receiving notification regarding this. Meta, which owns Facebook, Instagram and WhatsApp, will cut 10,000 jobs in this second wave of firing.

Though Meta did not confirm how many jobs in India have been impacted, it is said that employees in India will also be affected in the latest layoff.

In March, CEO Mark Zuckerberg said, "Overall, we expect to reduce our team size by 10,000 people and to close about 5,000 additional open roles that we haven't yet hired." While tech groups are being announced about the layoffs, business groups will receive notifications in late May. A Facebook business programme manager on LinkedIn said, "I woke up this morning to the unfortunate news that I was one of the many laid-offs from Meta today." As per reports, gameplay programmers are also affected in the recent round of layoffs.

Zuckerberg had said in March that over next couple of months, organisation leaders will announce restructuring plans focused on flattening its organisations, cancelling lower priority projects, and reducing its hiring rates. Also, in certain cases, layoff announcements may take through the end of the year to complete changes.

After restructuring, it plans to lift hiring and transfer freezes in each group. "Other relevant efficiency timelines include targeting this summer to complete our analysis from our hybrid work year of learning so we can further refine our distributed work model. We also aim to have a steady stream of developer productivity enhancements and process improvements throughout the year," the CEO added.

It plans to make the organisation flatter by removing multiple layers of management. "As part of this, we will ask many managers to become individual contributors. We'll also have individual contributors report into almost every level — not just the bottom — so information flow between people doing the work and management will be faster," he said.

LAYOFFS BEGIN

- Meta to fire 10,000 employees
- It will also close 5,000 additional open roles that the company is yet to hire
- In November last year, it fired 11,000 employees
- AS OF 2022-END, THE COMPANY'S HEADCOUNT STOOD AT OVER 86,000
- Meta plans restructuring and after that it will lift hiring

Tata-owned JLR to invest £15 billion in EVs

To launch a new EV in 2025 and its Halewood plant in the UK will become an all-electric production facility

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

TATA GROUP-owned Jaguar Land Rover (JLR) on Wednesday said it would be investing 15 billion pounds (£) ($19 billion) over the next five years in developing electric vehicles (EVs) and in future technologies.

JLR also said that they would be launching a new EV in 2025 and that its Halewood plant, in the UK, will become an all-electric production facility. Further, JLR's next-generation medium-size SUV architecture, electrified modular architecture (EMA), will now be pure-electric.

The British luxury carmaker's aggressive plan to go green comes as it faces stiff competition from rival German carmakers - Mercedes and BMW- who have launched multiple vehicles in the EV space.

Add to it, billionaire Elon Musk's Tesla has cut its EV prices for the sixth time this year, posing a big threat to incumbents. JLR, on the other hand, has only one EV in its line-up, the all-electric I-Pace launched in 2018. Since the onset of covid-19 pandemic, the carmaker has been facing difficulty in ramping up its production due to acute shortage of semi-conductors even as demand for its SUVs stood strong.

EV plan comes as JLR faces competition from rivals

British luxury carmaker's aggressive plan to go green comes as it faces stiff competition from rival German carmakers - Mercedes and BMW- who have launched multiple vehicles in the EV space. Add to it, Elon Musk's Tesla has cut its EV prices for the sixth time this year

Things, however, has started to change for good for JLR as parent firm Tata Motors in January reported consolidated net profit for the first time in two years in December 2022 quarter after the British brand saw a 28% growth in revenue to 6.04 billion pound sterling, and its earnings before interest and tax (EBIT) margin expanded 230 basis points YoY to 3.7%.

JLR CEO Adrian Mardell on Wednesday reaffirmed the business's commitment to its Reimagine strategy under which JLR aims achieving a net cash positive position by FY25 and double-digit EBIT by 2026. JLR confirmed it will start to invite applications for client orders for the modern luxury all-electric Range Rover from later this year. The first of its next-generation medium-size modern luxury SUVs will be an all-electric model from the Range Rover family, launching in 2025. The carmaker added that it will retain flexible modular longitudinal architecture (MLA) on which Range Rover and Range Rover Sport are built offering internal combustion engine (ICE), HYBRID and battery electric vehicle (BEV) options.

Wipro asks freshers to clear new test

Meanwhile, freshers who have joined Wipro need to undergo another training. It had earlier slashed freshers' salaries. Nascent Information Technology Employees Senate (NITES) said many freshers accepted the IT firm's new offer and joined on March 30, 2023.

"In March 2022, before starting the unpaid velocity training of Wipro, the firm's HR department assured employees if they complete the training they would not have to undergo training again in the company. However, after joining the company, it suddenly changed its stance and said they have to undergo training again," said Harpeet Singh Saluja, president, NITES. Wipro said in its mail to freshers if they don't clear Project Readiness Program (PRP) training with a score of at least 60%, they will be terminated. When asked, Wipro in a statement to this newspaper said, "Project Readiness Programme is part of our routine onboarding process and is designed to ensure that our next-gen associates are assigned to the right client projects and have the most up-to-date skillset."

WTO RULING THREATENS DOMESTIC MFG

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

WTO's recent ruling terming India's high import duty on certain electronics items as illegal might queer the pitch for domestic manufacturing of these products, and spook foreign investors. Experts say even if the impact may not be severe, it could surely put a dent on local manufacturing of electronics goods.

The World Trade Organisation has termed India's high import duty on information and communications technology (ICT) products as illegal. In 2019 the EU, Japan and Taiwan had challenged the import duties in the range of 7.5-20% on certain electronic products. While ruling in favour of the EU, the WTO observed that India's violation has affected EU exports of such goods by up to 600 million ueros annually. If India complies with the ruling, the country will have to reduce the import duty on these items.

Tarun Pathak, research director at Counterpoint Research, said the impact of this ruling will not be severe in the near term but will create a dent in the overall Make in India initiative. "Foreign investors will be treading cautiously in making further investments in India and this may also hamper the speed in getting the FDIs in the ICT space," he says adding that if the decision on the ruling affects the duty structure in India, it could impact the momentum of local value addition. If India loses the appeal in the higher court, the impact will be much severe.

Ajay Sahai, Director General & CEO of the Federation of Indian Export Organizations (FIEO), said India should challenge the ruling as the products on which India has imposed tariffs were non-existent at the time of signing of the information technology agreement (ITA). "Moreover, we are at a critical stage to attract global investment in such a sector, develop domestic capabilities and ancillaries and make India a new hub for such exports," said Sahai. However, Indian officials maintained it won't impact the smartphone PLI scheme, the most successful scheme in the country.

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

AFTER Godrej Properties and Mactrotech Developer (Lodha), Bengaluru–based Prestige Estate has now reported record sales booking numbers for the financial year 2023.

Prestige on Wednesday said its sales bookings rose by 25% year-on-year to a record ₹12,931 crore in FY23 on strong housing demand. This is marginally higher than Mumbai-based developers- Godrej Properties and Lodha. The other big player, DLF, is yet to announce its FY23 numbers. However, it is expected that the New Delhi-based realtor sales bookings may hit the ₹15,000 crore mark.

Meanwhile, Gurgaon-based privately held realty firm M3M India earlier this week reported that its sales bookings jumped more than two-fold to record Rs 13,000 crore in FY23.

During the fiscal year FY23, Prestige Group sold 9600+ homes in FY23. Going forward, Prestige is eyeing to double its sales in the next three years.

"Our Mumbai portfolio now comprises eight projects, including ongoing and upcoming projects, with a total sales potential of ₹75,000 crore (Total GDV)," said Narayana.

RAHUL SLOW, BUT GIANTS BOUNCE BACK

Another IPL game saw LSG captain dotting up without intent that other openers have shown this season

GOMESH S @ Chennai

HERE is a stat. In the ongoing IPL season, Kolkata Knight Riders' Rahmanullah Gurbaz has the lowest powerplay strike rate (105.88; minimum 50 runs) for an opener. The second name on the list is KL Rahul with 109.19. However, the difference between the two is that Gurbaz has gotten out in the first six overs four times in five innings. On the other hand, Rahul has gotten out only once in the phase so far.

None of this is surprising though. It's been an established template or pattern of sorts when it comes to strike rate and KL Rahul. He has been strongly criticised for his strike rate in the shortest format, especially in the powerplay. He has been and still is one of the most prolific run-scorers in the IPL but that seldom reflects on the impact his runs have on the teams he plays for. In 2020 and 2021, Rahul scored over 600 runs but the Punjab-based franchise finished sixth both seasons.

This year, too, during the game against Royal Challengers Bangalore, he scored 18 off 20 balls before getting out in the 12th over when the team was chasing 213. However, LSG got home thanks to once-in-a-season kind of innings from Nicholas Pooran. After the win, Rahul came out to defend his approach with the bat. "If I score more runs, the strike-rate will go up. I looked at the situation and I feel I had done the right thing. Hopefully with a couple of good knocks the strike rate will go up," he said.

For somebody who has called the metric overrated in the past, it wasn't a surprise he had spoken about it in those lines. Is it valid though? Where does he stand in a phase-by phase approach in this format?

Since 2021, Rahul has a powerplay strike rate of 109.64 before going up to 142.76 in middle-overs and 204.62 in the death. It is no secret that he makes up if he bats till the end of the innings. But such has been his approach in the early overs that even if he does capitalise, it has often been not enough.

It's all the more jarring when you consider teams are trying to maximise the fielding restrictions by being braver, not worrying about fall of wickets. Since 2021, the average powerplay strike rate in the IPL is 126.21 which is close to 15 runs higher than Rahul. And there isn't much of a difference in his T20I powerplay SR (111.20) in this period — where he played two T20 World Cups for India. Even if cases were made to say that the past two seasons — the average powerplay SR was over 125 — that it was not home and away and a part of it was outside India, it is plain unacceptable for an international batter to have a record that Rahul has.

In this season (until the LSG's innings versus Rajasthan Royals clash on Wednesday), average powerplay SR is 136.73, which is 27 runs more than that of Rahul. To put it in context, other India internationals like Ajinkya Rahane (222.22), Sanju Samson (233.33), Ishan Kishan (165.06) and Rohit Sharma (150.70) have a much higher powerplay ceiling.

On Wednesday, Rahul started off with a maiden against Trent Boult and scrapped his way to 39 off 32 balls before getting out to Jason Holder. Should he continue to bat the way he has and in turn costing the results unlike Wednesday, the team management might not look the other way for long. Brief scores: LSG 154/7 in 20 ovs (Mayers 51; Ashwin 2/23) bt RR 144/6 in 20 ovs (Jaiswal 44, Avesh 3/25).

Need someone to finish games: SRH coach

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @ Chennai

SUNRISERS Hyderbad have a top six which, on paper, is as good as any other team in the Indian Premier League, but that hasn't reflected in results so far. They are yet to fire collectively as a batting unit, which has cost them multiple games this season. After the setback against Mumbai Indians, Hyderabad head coach Brian Lara felt that losing wickets in the powerplay is something they need to take a look at.

''Losing wickets always sets you back. The couple of victories we had, we had an opener batting through. Doesn't matter how deep you bat, you want to make sure the right batters are getting the opportunity to score runs and we didn't take that opportunity in this match against Mumbai," Lara said on Tuesday.

While their middle-order — Aiden Markram, Rahul Tripathi and Heinrich Klaasen — is a dynamic one, they haven't been able to finish matches for the team, something that's a big concern. "It's (SRH middle-order) a work in progress. We need to have guys who are thinking to take the game till the end. There are some great examples in IPL, (Rahul) Tewatia, (David) Miller. We do need that sort of person to understand how to calculate, who are the bowlers still to come and plan properly. We have been working on that," said Lara.

"We seemed to be losing too many wickets in the power play throughout the five games we have played. That means you are always trying to play catch-up, trying to consolidate the situation to get better. We will have to improve in that area," added for the former West Indian captain, hoping that his team can come up with an improved performance against Chennai Super Kings in Chennai on Friday.

PUNJAB PACERS VS FAF/KOHLI

The last match provided the template for Punjab to win games. Get their pacers to restrict the opposition to a below-par score and back the batters, still without Liam Livingstone, to chase it down. That strategy might work when you have Kagiso Rabada, Arshdeep Singh and Sam Curran. If they can do the business in removing the Bangalore openers early, they can repeat this trick.

THE OTHER RCB BATTERS

It's been an age old problem for Bangalore. The absence of reliable Indian batters save Virat Kohli is again threatening to derail the season. Sample this. Glenn Maxwell (176), Virat Kohli (220) and Faf du Plessis (259) have, between them, scored 655. All the others, put together, have contributed 193 in five games. Not good enough.

Sudirman Cup 2023: Sindhu & Co seek team spirit in China

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

INDIAN singles shuttlers will try to throw the kitchen sink when they take part in the Sudirman Cup which is scheduled to be held in Suzhou, China next month.

Form has evaded most of India's elite in 2023. Even PV Sindhu, who has been a flagbearer for the country over the years, has found the going tough. Part of the squad which was announced by the Badminton Association of India (BAI) on Wednesday, Sindhu will be looking to address all the issues that's affecting her game and get back to her best. It's critical for her and the rest of the team as the Olympic Qualification Period is set to start from May 1. Former World No 1 Kidambi Srikanth is another shuttler who'll be hoping to regain his touch in the mixed team event where India have been drawn alongside Chinese Taipei, Malaysia and Australia in Group C.

Srikanth has suffered some tame defeats in recent months and is in desperate search for some wins that could spark a revival. He'll be looking at last year's Thomas Cup for inspiration, where he had played a pivotal role to help India enter the history books. HS Prannoy, who's the best-ranked singles player in the men's category, has also had a slow start to the year and will be hoping to show his big-game aptitude during the event. Lakshya Sen, who has also has had a subdued season so far, could only find his name in the reserve list. Anupama Upadhyaya of Haryana is the new face in the team. The domestic No 1 (as on March 6, 2023) is the second woman singles player in the side.

While singles remains a concern, the doubles players, overlooked over the years, have been on the ascendancy with Satwiksairaj Rankireddy and Chirag Shetty pulling off some memorable firsts for India in the last few years. They continue to learn on the job and get better. The women's combination of Gayatri Gopichand and Treesa Jolly have showed enough signs to suggest that they belong at the elite level. "We are confident that this team will challenge for a medal this year," BAI secretary Sanjay Mishra was quoted as saying in a release.

A medal could certainly be a timely boost for the team ahead of a rigorous calendar.

Squad: Men's singles: HS Prannoy, Kidambi Srikanth (Reserve: Lakshya Sen). Women's singles: PV Sindhu, Anupama Upadhyaya (Reserve: Aakarshi Kashyap). Men's doubles: Satwiksairaj Rankireddy/Chirag Shetty, MR Arjun/Dhruv Kapila. Women's doubles: Gayatri Gopichand/Treesa Jolly, Ashwini Ponnappa/Tanisha Crasto. Mixed doubles: Tanisha Crasto/Sai Pratheek.

WFI requests SAI to resume national camps

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

THE Wrestling Federation of India (WFI) has written to the chief executive officer of the Target Olympic Podium Scheme (TOPS) requesting him to resume national camps for men and women wrestlers. The WFI said the year holds great significance for the wrestlers with the Asian Games and the World Championships, which is also the first qualifier for the 2024 Paris Olympics, scheduled in September and hence they continue training at the camps.

However, what may turn out to be a bone of contention is one of the venues suggested by the federation for the women's camp. The WFI suggested the SAI centre in Sonepat as the venue for the men's wrestlers (Greco-Roman and freestyle). For women wrestlers, it has given four options — Gandhinagar (Gujarat), IG Stadium in New Delhi, Pune and Lucknow — with the last expected to raise a few eyebrows. Notably, women wrestlers, who protested against the WFI and its president Brij Bhushan Sharan Singh, called Lucknow's SAI centre unsafe and wanted the camp to be shifted to another place.

"The wrestlers have returned home from Kazakhstan after competing at the Asian Championships. All of them are now training in their respective hometowns. But they should assemble at one place as soon as possible because big events like Asiad and Worlds, which is also an Olympic qualifier, are lined up. The federation has written to the TOPS to resume the camps from April 20 but has not got any response yet. The camp should continue till October 30 so that it covers both the events," a WFI source told this daily.

The source admitted women's camp in Lucknow may fetch a negative response but affirmed it as a reason for suggesting three additional venues as options. "The male wrestlers should train together in Sonepat as they have been doing for years. For women, the Sports Authority of India (SAI) can choose any venue from the mentioned four options after taking wrestlers into confidence," added the source.

The federation is hopeful that it will receive SAI's response soon. "The response is still awaited but let them discuss and arrive at a conclusion. The point is to get the camps resumed soon as the performance of wrestlers has dipped considerably at the recently-concluded continental event." It is also learnt that the federation has submitted its annual calendar of training and competition (ACTC) to the SAI.

Meanwhile, sources also claimed that the SAI has expressed willingness to send athletes overseas for a camp and has even spoken to a few coaches to send a proposal in this regard. "We were told that a few coaches have been asked to send a proposal for an overseas camp but it doesn't make sense at this point in time. Anyways, sending 120 wrestlers (40 each in three styles) can turn out to be a logistical nightmare. It's better if the wrestlers train in the country," opined a source. The TOPS CEO didn't respond to a text message sent to him.

No need for Champions League heroics for Real this time

AP @ Madrid

REAL Madrid is making it look easy this time.

There's been no need for late heroics or big comebacks. No need for last-minute goals or extra time. Instead, it's just been straightforward dominance.

After needing to rally its way through the knockout rounds of the Champions League last season, Madrid is taking the easier route this time, cruising into the semifinals to stay on track for a record-extending 15th European title.

Madrid defeated Chelsea 2-0 in London on Tuesday in the second leg of the quarterfinals, advancing 4-0 on aggregate following what had been another dominant performance in the first game last week in Madrid.

The latest victory came after two goals from Rodrygo, whose second came in a 30-pass build-up that showcased Madrid's breathtaking form in the European competition this season.

Madrid have been more balanced than ever, with the attack working well and the defense playing solidly, allowing the team to stay in control and avoid having to come from behind. Madrid coach Carlo Ancelotti said the "collective effort defensively" is making a difference and allowing Madrid to "show its quality."

Madrid had eliminated six-time European champion Liverpool 6-2 on aggregate in the round of 16, when they won 5-2 in the first leg in Liverpool despite conceding two early goals. "I still don't know how to explain how the Champions League makes us all react and perform, but I have to say that it's very special indeed," Rodrygo said. It was also special last season, but Madrid had to suffer a lot more. Before beating Liverpool in the final, Madrid was in danger of elimination in each round of the knockout stage.

- Napoli 1-1 AC Milan

Thousands flee Khartoum

At least 270 civilians killed in five days of fighting; humanitarian ceasefire fails

KHARTOUM

THOUSANDS of residents on Wednesday fled Sudan's capital, where witnesses said bodies lay in the street from fighting between the army and paramilitaries after a 24-hour truce failed to take hold.

Five days of fighting in Khartoum and elsewhere in the northeast African country have killed at least 270 people, according to the most recent UN toll. Foreign diplomats have been attacked, and United Nations emergency relief coordinator Martin Griffiths said the UN had received "reports of attacks and sexual violence against aid workers".

Governments started planning to evacuate their citizens, among them many UN staff.

The violence erupted on Saturday between the forces of two generals who seized power in a 2021 coup: army chief Abdel Fattah al-Burhan and his deputy, Mohamed Hamdan Daglo, who commands the paramilitary Rapid Support Forces (RSF).

It followed a bitter dispute between them over the planned integration of the RSF into the regular army – a key condition for a final deal aimed at restoring Sudan's democratic transition. "Life in Khartoum is impossible if this war does not stop," said Alawya al-Tayeb, 33, on her way out of the capital.

"I tried to make children not see the slain bodies on the streets," she said, adding that her children currently suffer from shock and will need treatment.

Deafening explosions rattled buildings and heavy gunfire was heard in Khartoum, as witnesses said plumes of thick black smoke emanated from buildings around the army headquarters in central Khartoum.

RSF fighters atop armoured vehicles and pickup trucks laden with weapons swarmed the streets. Fighter jets roared overhead and fired on RSF targets, the witnesses said.

Trapped indoors, people look for ways to survive

For many in Sudan, food supplies are already dwindling as going out to restock has become too dangerous. So sharing among neighbours has become essential. On social media, posts are appearing giving information on pharmacies and grocery stores that are still open and able to deliver essential goods to those trapped. Others post phone numbers or addresses for their homes, offering to take in anyone caught outside and scrambling for shelter when shooting comes close.

Civilians huddled in their homes were becoming increasingly desperate, with dwindling food supplies, power outages, and a lack of running water.

A 24-hour humanitarian ceasefire announced by South Sudan failed to take hold at its proposed start at 1600 GMT on Tuesday. On Wednesday, the RSF said it would "fully commit to a complete ceasefire", again from 1600 GMT and for 24 hours. The army had made no comment on such a development.

Thousands of people took matters into their own hands and, according to witnesses, began leaving their homes in Khartoum, some in cars and others on foot, including women and children.

They said the streets were littered with dead bodies, the stench of which filled the air.

"We are now on our way to Madani to stay with our relatives after my family and kids lived through the terror of explosions," said Mohamed Saleh, 43, a government employee.

"We were very worried fighters would start storming homes."

Japan said its defence ministry had begun the "necessary preparations" to evacuate around 60 of its nationals from Sudan, including embassy staff.

Berlin aborted on Wednesday an evacuation attempt involving three military transport planes, which would have carried 150 citizens, according to the German weekly Der Spiegel.

The US embassy in Khartoum said it started gathering citizens' personal details while urging them to remain indoors and stay away from windows.

The violence has also seen a US diplomatic convoy fired upon, the European Union's ambassador attacked at home and a Belgian humanitarian official with the EU hospitalised after being shot. Aid groups have reported looting of medical and other supplies.

Fox News settles voting machine suit for $787.5mn

NEW YORK

FOX News reached a $787.5 million settlement on Tuesday in a defamation case brought by voting technology company Dominion that alleged the network knowingly aired false claims linking its machines to a conspiracy to undermine the 2020 US election.

The agreement to end the case avoided what most experts suggested would have been a damaging, high-profile trial for the conservative channel in which owner Rupert Murdoch would have been compelled to testify in open court.

Judge Eric Davis announced the last-minute agreement after the 12 jurors had been selected and the Delaware Superior Court was readying to hear opening arguments.

Fox News said in a statement it was "pleased" to have ended the dispute and added: "We acknowledge the court's rulings finding certain claims about Dominion to be false."

Kim says North Korea's 1st spy satellite is ready

SEOUL

NORTH Korean leader Kim Jong Un said his country has built its first-ever military spy satellite and that he planned to launch it on an undisclosed date, state media reported on Wednesday. Previous missile and rocket tests have demonstrated that North Korea can send satellites into space, but many experts question whether it has cameras sophisticated enough to use for spying from a satellite because only low-resolution images were released after past test launches. During his visit to the country's aerospace agency on Tuesday, Kim said that having an operational military reconnaissance satellite is crucial for North Korea to effectively use its nuclear-capable missiles.

Kim cited what he described as serious security threats posed by "the most hostile rhetoric and explicit action" by the United States and South Korea this year, according to the official Korean Central News Agency. He likely hopes to pressure his rivals on issues including joint military drills and international economic sanctions on North Korea. Kim said 'the military reconnaissance satellite No 1' had already been built and ordered officials to speed up preparations for its launch. He said North Korea must launch several satellites to establish an intelligence-gathering capability, KCNA said.

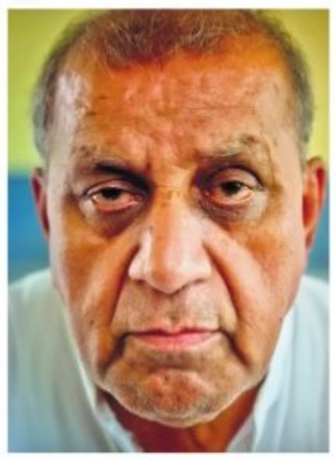
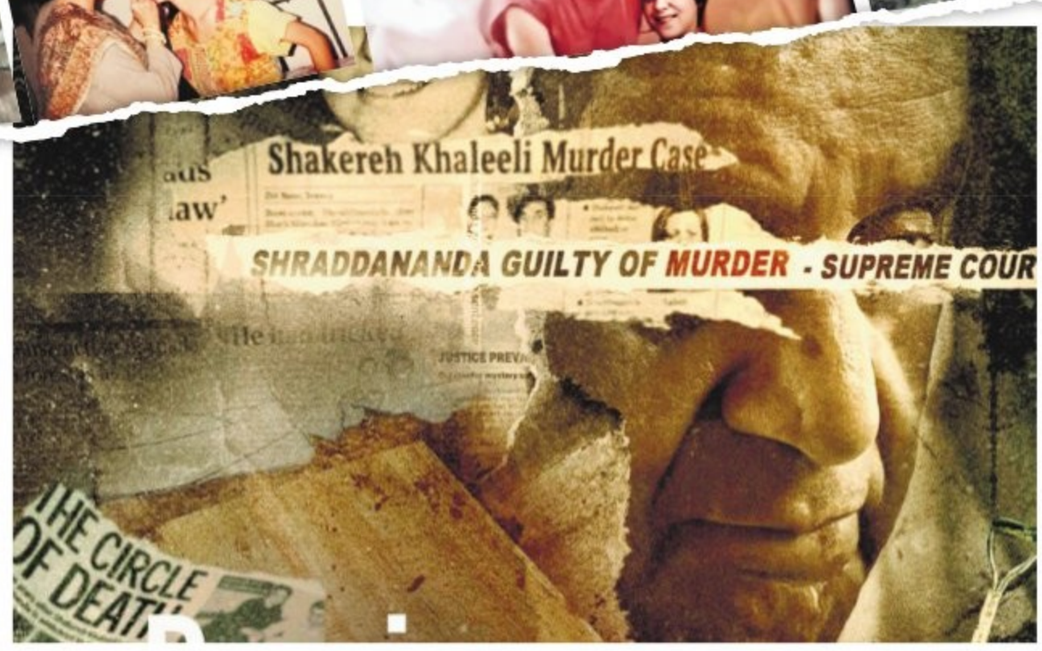
Based on the sensational murder of Shakereh Khaleeli in Bengaluru in the early '90s, this crime documentary shows original footage and an interview with Murali Manohar Mishra aka Swami Shraddhanand





MURDER HE WROTE

MONIKA MONALISA

IN the early '90s, a decade before the IT boom, sleepy and quaint Bengaluru hit the national headlines for the shocking and gruesome murder case of socialite Shakereh Khaleeli, which sent shock waves across the nation. Three decades later, the story is still talked about with a sense of disbelief.

This story of a rich heiress, a self-proclaimed godman, a murder mystery and a family's fight to dig out the truth will be seen in Amazon Prime Video's latest crime documentary Dancing on the Grave, which will be out on April 21. London-based filmmaker Patrick Graham, who directed the documentary, recalls the initial feelings of 'shock, surprise and horror' when he first read the story.

"We've read through thousands of pages of legal documents and have spoken to over 50 people during the research stage. The story itself has so many twists and turns. I didn't know anything about it while getting into it. I was onboard after reading that document because I was just so transfixed by the story," says Graham, adding that in the making of the documentary, he has met many who know the family, making it personal to them.

Apart from showing the family's side of the story, the documentary also shows Murali Manohar Mishra, aka, Swami Shraddhanand, who is currently serving his term in jail.

"Mishra is just another perspective within the whole tapestry of all the perspectives and viewpoints that we have in the show. He's a vital voice, but he's also one of many vital voices in the show. His interviews haven't really been seen previously. We did think it was important to get his voice in as well. We managed to get into the prison, which was an incredibly interesting experience for me and the whole crew that was allowed in there," says Graham. As an interviewer, it was a sensitive situation for him since the interviewee was 'a delicate old man'. "We had to be slightly gentle, but of course, at the back of our minds was this idea that he had been convicted for doing something horrific. It was a bit of a contradiction when we were talking to him because on the one hand, he was presenting himself as a frail old man, and on the other, only a few decades ago, he had been convicted of doing something utterly horrendous," says Graham.

The team started working on the story in 2019, so Covid came as a spoiler. Since the initial work was research-based, most of the meetings were done virtually. "We had to be mindful when we were shooting the interviews to make sure social distancing was enforced. It was quite a dicey process. And very tragically, there were a few interview subjects who we actually lost just before we could shoot their interviews. It had a profound effect on the project," says Graham.

TIMELINE

1965: Shakereh, granddaughter of Sir Mirza Ismail, the Diwan of Mysore, Jaipur and Hyderabad, got married to her first cousin Akbar Mirza Khaleeli

1983: Murali Manohar Mishra, who had renamed himself Swami Shraddhanand first met Shakereh and her husband in Delhi

1985: Shakereh divorced Akbar Mirza Khaleeli after he returned from Iran

1986: In April, six months after her divorce, Shakereh married Shraddhanand, and gave access to her money and property

1991: Sabah, Shakereh's second daughter, was unable to locate her mother

1992: Sabah filed a complaint at the Ashok Nagar Police Station

1991-94: Shraddhanand pretended Shakereh was on a holiday and lived lavishly in her property

1994: In May, the police finally found the skeletal remains of Shakereh's body buried deep in the courtyard of her own house. Shakereh was killed on April 28, 1991 after being drugged in her sleep and was then placed on a mattress which was deposited in a coffin-like box.

1997: The case was brought into trial

2005: Shraddhanand was sentenced to capital punishment by hanging

2006: Shraddhanand issued a notice to the Karnataka government questioning the High Court judgment that upheld his death sentence

2008: A life sentence was ordered for Shraddhanand by the Supreme Court of India

He was originally jailed in the central prison in Bengaluru, but was transferred to Sagar Central Jail in 2011 at his own request

We read through thousands of pages of legal documents and spoke to over 50 people during the research stage. The story itself has so many twists and turns. I didn't know anything about it while getting into it

Kendriya Vidyalaya receives energy efficiency award

The Bureau of Energy Efficiency (BEE) has recognised and awarded Kendriya Vidyalaya of Rail Wheel Factory with the 'Shunya Plus' label following the school's conversion to Net-Positive Energy Buildings (NZEB). As a result, the school produces more solar energy than it needs, with the additional energy being redirected to different RWF regions. A NZEB depends on renewable sources to create as much energy as it consumes and sends any extra generated power to the grid. The efficiency of a NZEB is often evaluated over the course of a year.

KEEPING IT COOL

MONIKA MONALISA

AS temperatures soar in Bengaluru, we involuntarily opt for light fabric apparels. MulMul is one such wardrobe staple. The Shop, a New Delhi-based brand, will be displaying its collection here between April 20 and 22 at Raintree, Sankey Road.

Co-founder Sachi Gupta says MulMul might be a luxury in the international market but it is homegrown for Indians. "Mulmul or muslin as it is known in Europe is a soft and fine weave of cotton that was first made by Bengali weavers many hundred years ago. The name is derived from the Hindi word 'mal' which means soft. It is light, airy, and durable," explains Gupta.

The Shop, which started 54 years ago, draws inspiration from traditional textiles from around the world. "The idea is to analyse our industry trends and bring in traditional yet contemporary elements into it," adds Gupta. For example, their Madrid collection was inspired by a visit to the el Rastro, Madrid's famous flea market, at the Plaza Tirso de Molina, where different political groups, feminists, and revolutionaries alike sat amongst flower sellers to exchange political messages. "The shibori collection was an exploration by design student interns who dived into books on the Japanese tie-and-dye tradition," says Gupta.

Two-time memory world champion Omkar Kibe speaks about some simple-yet-powerful techniques to apply in day-to-day life

STENI SIMON

IT'S time to charge those grey cells and what better way than learning from the International Master of Memory Omkar Kibe who is conducting a six-day memory workshop for children at Art Commune Bengaluru. The memory athlete combines memory techniques with the performing elements of theatre and storytelling and educates and motivates people to tap into the tremendous potential of their brains by sharing his knowledge, and top secrets that help people from all walks of life. "Numbers are abstract, so we need to make them into something that the human brain can easily grasp. Hence, we convert these numbers into images. For example, in order to remember 1947 Independence Day, we split the numbers into two – 19 and 47. 19 could be a flagpole and 47 could be the National Flag. Our brain takes images easily. Hence, this becomes easier for people to remember. If a student learns these memory techniques, s/he can easily memorise history dates," shares Kibe, who has represented India twice in World Memory Championships (WMC).

Mnemonist Kibe's interest in mastering memory techniques started with Rubik's Cube about 10 years ago. "I participated in competitions conducted by the World Cubing Association. One category in the competition involved blindfolded cubing where one needs to solve the cube while being blindfolded. This needs memory techniques. Although I took part in the blindfolded cubing competition, I realised that my timing needed improvement. I did some research and came to know that memory championships are also conducted," says Kibe.

This encouraged Kibe to start training for memory championships. "The championships included 10 events such as remembering random numbers, shuffling a deck of playing cards, images, etc. My first memory championship was in the Philippines in 2014 where I came in the top 20 categories. This encouraged me to participate in more championships. Hence, in 2015, I represented India in the World Memory Championship held in China. More than 300 competitors from over 50 countries participated in the three-day event and I became the first Indian to bag the title of International Master of Memory in the first attempt itself. I also became the first Indian to win the International Memory Championship in Indonesia in 2016," he says.

He also participated in several other championships held in Egypt, Germany, Sweden, Hong Kong, and Singapore. The last memory championship that he took part in was in Hyderabad in 2018. Kibe is currently focusing on giving more online classes to children in different parts of India and abroad. "It's a mixed feeling with so many emotions involved while participating in memory championships. The body has to be strong physically as well because our body and mind are interconnected," says Kibe.

STAY SUMMER-SAFE

At the height of summer, temperatures soar and it is important to take care of your health. High temperatures can lead to heat exhaustion and heat stroke, which can be fatal if not treated promptly. Here are some tips on how to take care of your health this summer — Dr Ashwin Karuppan

TIPS TO PREVENT HEAT-RELATED ILLNESSES

Heat-related illnesses can occur when the body is unable to cool itself down, causing symptoms such as fatigue, dizziness, and nausea. To prevent heat exhaustion and heat stroke, follow these tips:

Stay indoors during the hottest part of the day, usually between 10 am and 4 pm.

Wear light-coloured and loose-fitting clothing that allows air to circulate.

Take frequent breaks in cool, shady areas.

Drink plenty of water and avoid alcohol and caffeine, which can dehydrate the body.

Use sunscreen with a high SPF to prevent sunburn, which can make it more difficult for the body to cool down.

Use a fan or air conditioning to keep the air circulating in your home.

HOW TO TAKE CARE WHEN OUT IN THE SUN

Wear a hat to protect your face and scalp from the sun.

Wear sunglasses to protect your eyes from UV rays.

Use sunscreen with a high SPF and reapply it every two hours, or after swimming or sweating.

Wear clothing that covers your arms and legs, or choose clothing made from sun-protective fabrics.

Seek shade during the hottest part of the day.

(The writer is consultant-Internal Medicine, Gleneagles Global Health City, Chennai)

TIPS TO STAY HYDRATED

Drink water regularly throughout the day, even if you don't feel thirsty.

Carry a water bottle with you when you go out.

Eat foods that are high in water content, like fruits and vegetables.

Avoid sugary drinks like soda and sports drinks, which can dehydrate the body.

If you're exercising or spending time outdoors, drink water before, during, and after physical activity.

FOODS TO BE AVOIDED

During the summer months, it's important to avoid foods that can dehydrate the body and make you feel sluggish. Here are some foods to avoid:

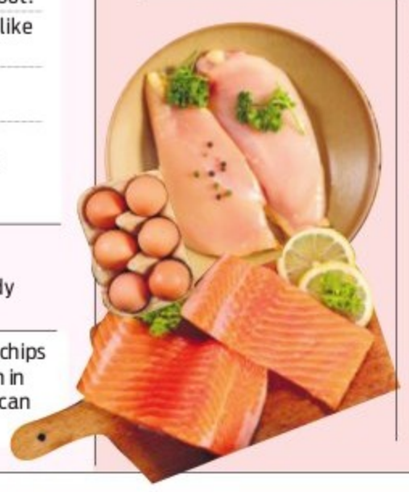
Fried foods are high in fat and can be difficult for the body to digest, making you feel sluggish and tired.

Spicy foods can increase body temperature and cause sweating, which can lead to dehydration.

Processed snacks like chips and candy can be high in sugar and salt, which can dehydrate the body.

FOODS TO BE CONSUMED IN SUMMER

Eating a healthy and balanced diet is important during the summer months. Here are some foods to include in your diet to help you stay healthy:



Fresh fruits and vegetables are packed with vitamins and minerals that can help keep your body hydrated and healthy. Choose water-rich fruits like watermelon and grapes, and vegetables like cucumbers and tomatoes.

Yogurt is a great source of probiotics, which can help keep your digestive system healthy.

Lean proteins like chicken and fish are a great source of energy and can help keep you feeling full.

Smoothies made with fresh fruit, yogurt, and ice can be a refreshing and healthy snack.

Long Covid smell loss linked to changes in brain: Study

PEOPLE living with long Covid who suffer from loss of smell show different patterns of activity in certain regions of the brain, a new study has found. The research from University College London used MRI scanning to compare the brain activity of people with long Covid who lost their sense of smell, those whose smell had returned to normal after Covid infection, and people who had never tested positive for Covid-19.

Published in eClinicalMedicine, the observational study found that the people with long Covid smell loss had reduced brain activity and impaired communication between two parts of the brain which process important smell information: the orbitofrontal cortex and the prefrontal cortex.

This connection was not impaired in people who had regained their sense of smell after Covid. The findings suggest smell loss, known as anosmia, caused by long Covid is linked to a change in the brain that stops smells from being processed properly. Because it's clinically reversible, as shown in some people, it may be possible to retrain the brain to recover its sense of smell in people suffering the side effects of long Covid. – IANS

DIRECTOR SURI TO COLLABORATE WITH JAYANNA FILMS FOR THE FIRST TIME

The director and producer share their excitement about collaborating on a mass entertainer that will star Virat as the lead

A SHARADHAA

A long-pending collaboration between director Suri and producers Jayanna and Bogendra is finally happening. The Tagaru director and Jayanna Films will be teaming up for a film that will be headlined by the Kiss hero, Virat.

Virat, who has signed a multi-film deal with the production company, is starring in Dinakaar Thoogudeepa's Royal, which is in the last stages of shooting. Next up, Virat will star in the Suri directorial, and a confirmation of this project was made by both the producer and the director.

Producer Jayanna and Director Suri

Speaking to CE, Suri said that he has had a long-standing association with producer Jayanna since his directorial debut, Duniya. "In fact, Duniya wouldn't have made it to theatres without the support of Jayanna. He helped me bring the film to the big screen. Since then, we have associated in various capacities. He has been the distributor for a handful of my films and has indirectly backed my projects. In fact, Jayanna, who has been a good friend of Bad Manners producer Sudhir is taking take care of that film's theatrical release too," says Suri, adding, "We would often discuss collaborating as director and producer, and it is finally happening now. I'm excited to helm a film under such a big banner, which is more like my home production."

About casting Virat, Suri says the actor is a bundle of talent. "He has this fire in him, and we are now gearing up for a good collaboration. Writer Surendra Nath and Amri along with the team are working on the script. Right now, we are getting Bad Manners ready for release, and after that, we will start the Virat project, which will be a pucca mass entertainer," says Suri.

Talking about the project, Jayanna says, "It has been a long-standing dream for me to work with a director like Suri. Also, from Royal to this project, it has been a fruitful collaboration with Virat."

TO BE WORKING WITH ONE OF MY FAVORITE DIRECTORS IS A DREAM COME TRUE: VIRAT

Virat, who is gradually making a mark in Kannada cinema, expresses his elation in working under Suri's direction, which he calls a dream come true. "My college days were spent watching Suri's films. I even performed a song from his Jackie, starring Puneeth Rajkumar. I have watched his Duniya so many times, and today, I got an opportunity to work with one of my favourite directors. This wouldn't have been possible without the support of Jayanna, who has been the backbone of my career," he says.

English Manja will be on the lines of yesteryear mass flicks: Pramod

CE FEATURES

Pramod, who was last seen in Bond Ravi, this time is back as English Manja. With the film slated to hit the theatres this week, the actor shares that the film be on the lines of yesteryear mass flicks. "English Manja was a film I signed during the pandemic. I gave 80 days of call sheet and even took risks for the action sequences. Overall, compared to my other films, a lot of hard work has gone into English Manja."

The actor goes on to add that he also had to keep the film in tune with the present audience. "The audiences are updating themselves every day, and their mindsets towards films keep changing. Going by the present trend of the viewers, I am anxious to know, whether they will be attracted to violence and heroes weilding machetes. So it is a litmus test for me too."

The actor shares that planning the shooting pre-hand will be helpful for the project's release.

"The time gap between the commencing of the shoot and release matters. We should target to complete it in at least 8 months. I want to apply it to my future projects," he says.

English Manja directed by Arya Mahesh, traces the journey of a youth, who is averse to English and enters the mafia world, out of his will. "Known as English Manja, he enjoys crime at the early age of 7 and watches films based on rowdyism, and is influenced by the glorified gangster characters. He aims to become a big gangster and goes on a successful streak. However, the story goes into a twist when Manja falls in love.'Respect love, don't lose it for anything' is the underline theme of the film," says Pramod giving a brief about English Manja.

The film produced by David has cinematography by S Nagesh and music by Hemanth Kumar.

Pramod, up next will be seen in Bhuvanam Gaganam. The actor is also a part of Prashanth Neel's Salaar.

'I want to be part of a women-centric film'

ABHILASHA CHERUKURI

One of the very few actors to successfully balance multiple industries, Pooja Hegde is cementing her place in Hindi, Tamil, and Telugu film industries one film at a time. Having starred alongside some of the biggest stars of Indian cinema like Hrithik Roshan, Mahesh Babu, Vijay, Akshay Kumar, and Allu Arjun, Pooja is set to appear on the big screen with the bhai of them all, Salman Khan in his Eid release, Kisi Ka Bhai Kisi Ki Jaan (KKBKKJ).

KKBKKJ is the latest version of the superhit 2014 Tamil film, Veeram, which has already seen remakes in Telugu (Katamarayudu), and Kannada (Odeya). The South connect is very strong in KKBKKJ, which also stars Venkatesh Daggubati, Jagapathi Babu, and Bhumika Chawla as Telugu-origin characters. Joining CE in an exclusive conversation from Mumbai, Pooja opens up about KKBKKJ, playing a Telugu girl in a Hindi film, and more.

Excerpts

KKBKKJ is your fourth big-ticket Hindi film after _Mohenjodaro_, _Housefull 4_, and _Cirkus_. How has this film been different for you?

Working in Hyderabad over the years, I have become a Telugu girl now, and it was special to essay one such character in KKBKKJ. I play an integral part in the film and am pivotal to every step of the proceedings. My role is loud, playful, fun, and basically... bindaas. Apart from a handful of films like Sanam Teri Kasam and the works of Raj & DK, one has not seen many female Telugu characters in Hindi cinema. Did you find yourself turning into an in-house Telugu expert on sets?

Knowing the language certainly helps, it gave me the confidence to take more ownership of the role. I could add certain lines and words spontaneously in my dialogues. Also, with Venkatesh sir on the sets, I was not the only one from the Telugu industry. Also, my Telugu fluency was a reason to get the role. In fact, after the Mohenjadaro screening, Salman sir told me that we should soon work together. In a way, everything — the director, actor, producer, and storyline — came together for KKBKKJ.

KKBKKJ also marks your second collaboration with director Farhad Samji...

When you reunite with a director, there is a different synergy altogether. You know each other's working patterns and the shooting process becomes easier. I have been lucky so far that all my producers, directors, and actors have expressed a desire to work with me again. To learn that my work is liked enough by people to ask me to hop in for another project has been the biggest compliment in my career.

Talking of frequent collaborators, you are reuniting with Trivikram Srinivas (for the third time) and Mahesh Babu (for the second time) in _SSMB 28_...

It is too early for me to reveal anything about the film now. However, I can guarantee that people will get to see me in a new light, a different avatar of sorts in SSMB 28.

Comedy is considered a challenging genre, and you have dabbled in it in quite a few films...

Making people laugh is the toughest thing to do but also makes for an enjoyable experience. Situational comedy is especially fun since you don't have to go on set thinking and figuring out what to do on that day. You must find out what is funny about the situation and deliver your best. I love funny and lighthearted things. It just keeps your day as an actor more interesting when you know anything can happen.

2022 has been a rough year at the movies for you. How do you come to grips with failure?

I have a glass-half-full approach to whatever happened last year. Beast did well in Tamil. The Arabic Kuthu song gave me a whole lot of love. I have also received appreciation for my performances, which kept me going. My job as an actor is to do my best and ensure that I have given my 100 per cent. There is only so much control I have over the results of the films. I am not the writer or the director, nor do I sit at the edit table. God was kind enough to give me multiple blockbusters. I have had my share of both successes and failures. Also, as actors, we should be allowed to take risks and experiment because only then can we give our audience something new. I have taken things in my stride and moved on.

You have worked as an actor across three industries for a little more than a decade now. How do you reflect back on the career you have had so far? Are there any roles, or uncharted territory you wish to explore next?

All these years, I have looked at my filmography in terms of what I can do with the work that has been offered to me. There is no strategy as such, and I have just followed my heart and my gut feeling. I want to continue being a part of good stories and gravitate towards good content. I do want to be a part of a women-centric film, and I really wish to see more and more stories of women in cinema. I am working towards that. I do love all kinds of genres, but I am a romantic at heart, and I have a special love for the romance genre. However, I have not done an action film or a children's film, and it will be great to explore these genres in the future.
